CLEVELAND FUNERAL PLANS ARE MADE ALL DURING DAY AT LATE PRINCETON HOME

CLOSE BUSINESS FROM 1 TO 7 P. M.

MAYOR ISSUES PROCLAMATION DECIDING THIS STEP

ALL BLINDS ARE DOWN

PRINCETON IS A CITY IN SACKCLOTH AND ASHES

FUNERAL AT 5 O'CLOCK TODAY

Only Intimates of the Family View the Remains of the Late Grover Cleveland

PRINCETON, June 26.—Regarding recent published statements that Cleveland died a poor man and that his estate would prove insufficient for the support of his family, Cleveland Bacon, a nephew, said today to a representative of the United Press: "Say for me that the published reports that Mr. Cleveland died poor are absolutely untrue. What the estate does amount to I don't care to say now, but I will say it is great enough to amply support his family. I know there has been gossip on the matter but this statement which is the only one made so far by any member of the family, should set all such rumors at rest."

PRINCETON, N. J., June 26.—The drawn blinds on all business houses in the city this afternoon testify to the respect the people feel for Grover Cleveland. Except for small knots of people at the street corners the town is as silent as its cemetery.

There is a constant procession of carriages containing prominent visitors arriving at the Cleveland home. Officials of the Equiaable Life company are expected shortly before the arrival of President Roosevelt. They will come in George Westinghouse's private car. Three troops, "A. B. and C," of the Second regiment, New Jersey, national guard, have just arrived from Trenton to police the streets during the funeral.

THE LATE GROVER CLEVELAND, 22ND AND 24TH PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES, WHOSE FUNERAL OCCURRED TODAY.

Preparations Made.

All day preparations for the funepreparations for the Cleveland funeral have progressed. Since early morning at the Cleveland home a score of Princeton professors and other friends of the family are busily arranging details of the funeral service, the procession, and compiling lists of the distinguished guests, assigning each to a place in the day's program. Mayor Robinson issued a proclamation requesting the suspension of all business between 1 and 7 o'clock this afternoon, closing all the streets on the line of march from 3 o'clock until after the ceremony. The present plan is to have the service about 5 o'clock. The body of the ex-president still lies in the room in which he died, and will be placed in the coffin only a short time before the services commence. Only close personal friends and Mrs. Cleveland will see the face of the dead. The casket will be opened in the room up stairs, and will be closed before being removed to the main reception room on the east side of the house in front, from where it will be borne to the hearse. The names of those who will follow the remains to the tomb, by carriages, are:

The Mourners.

First—Dr. Henry Van Dyke, Dr. W. R. Richaards, Rev. F. W. Beach, and Rev. M. V Bartlett

Second—Mrs. Cleveland and son Richard, and Dr. Joseph Bryant.

Third—Miss Rose Cleveland, sister; Esther Cleveland, daughter.

Fourth—Cleveland F. Bacon, a nephew; Miss Mary Hastings, niece; Prof. and Mrs. Wood.

Fifth—Mr. and Mrs. Huddlestone, Mrs. John F. Finley, Mrs. Richard

BRAZIL IS MOURNING.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 26.—President Penna of Brazil, who became peculiarly interested in the United States since the visit of Secretary Root, has paid a rare tribute to the American government by directing the Brazilian national flag to be displayed at half mast throughout the republic until after ex-President Cleveland's funeral. This information was cabled by American Ambassador Dudley. Other governments heard from are: Austria Hungary, Costa Rica and Cuba.

AUTOISTS WATCH THE SPEED TEST

SOME TRY TO "KID" THE CITY VEHICLE TODAY

RUN AS IF TRYING TO PASS

Convey the Idea Their Machine Can't Run So Fast, but Police Will Keep Special Lookout

Starting from the city hall this afternoon at 2:30 J. W. Bryant's auto, accompanied by Desk Sargeant Frank Yolton and some of the city officials left on the speed trip through the city. A large banner was placed on either side of the machine stating the speed. Leaving Fifth and State street the machine went east on State to West avenue and then completed the trip as stated in The Tribune last evening. After making the complete trip they returned to the city hall, where the banner was changed and a trip at the rate of 18 miles per hour was started. Following the 18 mile per hour trip a 24 hour speed trip will be taken and after that the machine will be run on Main street from Front to Sixteenth.

An occasional toot of the horn as a warning that the speed test was in progress brought large numbers to the streets on which the trip was being made. Interesting incidents were noticed by those in the machine. While on the trip, when streets intersected numerous machines would meet the speed test auto and while several threw in their slow speed clutch, for effect, the speed test auto left a number in the lurch. This incident was considered a joke by those in the machine and Sargeant Yolton states that he will command the patrolmen to keep a special watch on the machines that attempted the joke.

The test was entirely satisfactory and the police department expect that it will be beneficial in case any autoists are arrested for exceeding the speed limit.

PRIZE WINNERS IN PONY CONTEST

TRIBUNE PRIZES ARE ANNOUNCED HEREWITH

MUCH INTEREST IS SHOWN

Number of Contestants Was Large and Many Efforts Not Securing Prizes Were Able

That there has been a great deal of interest taken in the Tribune's pony naming and tsory writing contests, is shown by the number of letters and coupons received. Hundreds of coupons have been sent in and, after careful consideration the name "Tribune Junior" was selected. This name was sent in by Miss Marjorie Nelson 1223 Ferry street.

A great many stories were also received and, while all of the stories were good, the following were selected:

First prize, Lucretia Wagner, 1228 South Sixteenth street, a family ticket to the show.

Second, Lillian Smith, 206 North Seventh street, a ticket for three.

Third, Edith Wooley 230 South Sixteenth street, a ticket for two.

The next five will receive one ticket each.

Inez Gustin, 1302 Redfield street.
Aino Larkin, 426 Caledonia street.
Walter Heileman, 1025 South Seventh street.
Lillian Opsah, 1512 Charles street.
Mildred Vernon, 108 South Ninth street.

These prize stories will be published on the Junior page tomorrow. If the prize winners will call at The Tribune office tonight or tomorrow morning, they will receive their tickets.

WORK FOR 2,000 MEN.

PITTSBURG, Pa., June 26.—Two thousand men will be put to work tomorrow when ten departments of the Homestead Steel works will be in operation for the first time in three months. tI is expected that when the general resumption is completed next week between 2,000 and 3,000 additional men will be put to work.

DEEP CHANNEL PLANK IS PLANNED

RIVER ADVOCATES AMONG THE DEMOCRATIC DELEGATES

NO ORGANIZED EFFORT MADE

But Secretary Boswell of the Upper River Improvement Ass'n. Expects Endorsement in Convention

Influential deep waterways advocates who are among the delegates to the democratic national convention at Denver next month expect to secure the insertion of a plank in the national platform pledging the democratic party to the immediate fulfillment of the six-foot channel plan from St. Paul to St. Louis.

While these delegates no doubt are sincere in their desire to secure a six-foot channel, there apparently is politics in this proposed action—a scheme to win votes in the Mississippi valley country. The Roosevelt administration has been heartily in favor of the river project, but the necessity of reducing governmental expenditures prevented more than preliminary action being taken in the recent session of congress. The declarations of the present administration in advocacy of the channel doubtless are assuring enough to republicans, so that a democratic plank indorsing the project would gain little for the "donk's" followers. This plank practically would be borrowed material.

L. B. Boswell, secretary of the Upper Mississippi River Improvement association, says that while no organized effort has been made upon the part of the association to secure indorsement of the deep waterways plan, it is understood among the members and officials of the association that some of the influential delegates to the convention are deeply interested in the six-foot channel project and will demand the insertion of such a plank in the platform.

Capt. J. D. Du Shane of St. Paul, in charge of the government work between St. Paul and Wabasha, and Capt. W. A. Thompson of this city, in charge of t he improvements between La Crosse and Wabasha, declare that at the present time 85 per cent of the channel between St. Paul and St. Louis is ten feet deep, and that only 15 per cent of t he distance of 676 miles will have to be remedied. A large portion of this 15 per cent is six feet deep in low water and the remainder to be deepened is comparatively small. It is estimated the expense will be $20,000,000 and that twelve years work will be required to put the work through. It will be necessary to extend all present dams in the river four feet further into the channel, and all new dams will have to be made four feet longer than under the present conditions to insure a six-foot channel.

It is estimated that it would cost $300,000 per year to keep the six foot channel intact, once it was secured.

Secretary Boswell's Purpose

Secretary Boswell in discussing the matter to The Tribune, says:

"Influential advocates of waterways who are delegates to the Denver convention, will see to it that proper resolutions are framed and presented the convention upon this subject.

"We could not very well segregate our special proposition and must therefore, become a party to and part of the general plan or proposition for improvement of the rivers and harbors of the country. If both prties are committed, then congress will have no excuse for declining to pass such laws as may be requisite, embracing a general plan for the improvement and conservation of all these great waterways and harbors. It would mean the saving of untold sums of money by committing the government to a general plan of action, so that moneys spent would create improvements of a permanent character, or as near so as engineers could make it, and ultimately secure the improvement for commercial purposes of the great navigable streams in the interior of the country, including also the harbors and coastal service."

FINAL PLANS FOR FUNERAL SERVICES

Funeral services for the late George H .Dalton, who passed away yesterday morning after suffering with heart trouble, will be held at the Masonic temple Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clovk. Grand Secretary Perry of the Masonic order and Rev. J. S. owe of the St. Paul's Universalist church will conduct the services. The Masonic burial service will be used and members of the lodge will act as pallbearers. The G. A. R., of which deceased was a prominent member, will accompany the body to the cemetery.

Tomorrow afternoon the body will be taken to the Masonic temple, where it will lay in state until the funeral services Sunday afternoon. Interment will be made in Oak Grove cemetery beside his wife, who died a few weeks ago.

"DEVIL STARVER" EATS WHEN THREATENED WITH MAD-HOUSE

Home of Pilgrim Brotherhood and Mrs. Laura Hunter, who Stopped Her Fast the 14th Day.

WAUKEGON, Ill., June 26.—Threatened with trial on a charge of insanity, Mrs. Laura Hunter, a member of the "Devil Starvers" sect, broke her fast for the first time in 15 days. She was trying the starvation cure to drive out the "devil of frivolous thought."

The woman only agreed to take nourishment when the superintendent of the Jane McAllister hospital threatened to force food down her throat, and then had agreed to "assume her responsibility to God."

Judge Hunter, of Burnham, Ill., yesterday tried vainly to induce his wife to eat.

"If you do not adopt my religion," she is said to have told her husband, "I will fast fifty days more until my wedding ring drops from my finger."

The authorities have no trace of Rev. Adam Thompson, who is wanted on a charge of manslaughter in connection with the death of his wife, who died after 41 days' fast. Thompson is the leader of the queer sect.

Following the announcement that arrests were contemplated as a result of alleged irregularities in connection with Mrs. Thompson's death, Mrs. Hunter, the present leading faster of the "home," left on a "visit to friends." She was located a few hours later and notified that she must hold herself in readiness to submit to questioning.

Mrs. Hunter expressed her entire willingness to answer any questions that might be put to her.

"I am in the Lord's hands," she said. "No evil can befall me and I am not afraid."

MILLION DOLLAR FIRE IN DULUTH

BIG ELEVATOR AND COAL SHEDS OF N. P. RY. BURNED

BIG ELEVATORS ENDANGERED

Blaze is Not Yet Out and Loss May Greatly Exceed Present Estimate

DULUTH, Minn., June 26.—Fire which started at 12:30 this afternoon completely destroyed elevator "D" of the Consolidated Elevator company, and coal shed No. 2 of the N. P. railway. Three other elevators are threatened and it is believed cannot be saved.

The heat from the fire is so intense windows in buildings a quarter of a mile distant are cracking.

The loss is estimated at a million dollars.

MILWAUKEE KICKS ON C., M. & ST. P. RATES TO INTERSTATE BOARD

WASHINGTON, June 26.—Alleging discrimination in favor of Chicago on grain rates from Iowa, Minnesota, and South Dakota, the chamber of commerce in Milwaukee today filed two complaints, with the interstate commission against the Illinois Central, the St. Paul road, the Northwestern and Rock Island railroads.

CASTRO FEARS AN AMERICAN BOYCOTT

CARACAS, June 26.—So far President Castro is exhibiting no sign of worrying over the fact that the United States has practically suspended all diplomatic relations with his country. In his own organ "El Constitutional," he lays the blame of the present trouble on the insistence of the United States in settling by arbitration the claims that the nation has against Venezuela which is in violation, he says, of the protocol recently signed between the countries. Castro, however, fears it would be followed by an American commercial boycott against Venezuela. The country is now at its lowest commercial activity of many years due to the destruction of shipping by reason of the plague at Laguayra, and at other ports. Already the people are demanding of Castro that he do all in his power to regain the friendship of the United States.

WOMEN'S CLUBS TO ENJOY CLAMBAKE

BOSTON, June 26.—Delegates to the convention of Federated Women's clubs are visiting Newport today. At the Rhode Island resort they will enjoy a clambake and a sail down Narragansett Bay. The only regular meeting is a forestry session this evening. Mrs. P. S. Peterson will speak on "The Voice of the Forest," and Enos A. Mills of Estes Park, Col., on "The Spirit of the Forest."

BRITISH LION IS GROWLING AT SHAH

RULER ORDERED TO REMOVE HIS TROOPS BY TONIGHT

FEAR SERIOUS CONSEQUENCE

If Soldiers Are Not Taken from British Legation Grounds it Is Believed England Will Act

TEHERAN, June 26.—The British legation has demanded the withdrawal of the shah's cossacks from the legation grounds by 6 o'clock this evening.

Several of the constitutional party leaders took refuge within the British legation following Tuesday's battle.

Since then the shah's soldiers have been keeping watch over the legation to prevent the escape of these men. England considers this a rank insult, and unless her order is obeyed most serious consequences are expected.

POUGHKEEPSIE IS FILLING FOR RACE

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., June 26.—Race-going folks and college enthusiasts are beginning to arrive by every boat and train. The town is filling up with visitors for the intercollegiate boat races tomorrow afternoon. The principal streets are all decked with college colors, and scores of stalls have been erected for the sale of souvenirs. The regular police has been reinforced by special police and detectives from New York.

There will be no betting here on the races, and Mayor Sague refuses emphatically to back down from the stand regarding the selling of pools. Individual betting, however, shows Cornell is not the hot favorite she has been in former years. Many bets standing 5 to 3 on Columbia against Cornell have been made today. Other bets are 8 to 10 on Columbia against the field. All crews took light practice today.

SLY THRUST AT THE ADMINISTRATION

CHICAGO, June 26.—A thinly veiled attack on the administration by Roosevelt of the anti-trust laws was made by Congressman Charles Littlefield of Maine, in an address before the Illinois Bar association today.

"I think the results indicate this enforcement of the anti-trust laws has been more of a proclamation then a performance," he said. "No doubt the mountain has labored, but the results are conspicuous. They are in marked inverse proportion to the zeal and enthusiasm proclaimed in the inforcement of the law. If claims are based on information rather than on imagination, then the old Scotch couplet might well apply: 'Woe to the coward that ever he was born, than didn't draw the sword, before he blew the horn.'"

TWO AUTO DEATHS.

CHICAGO, June 26.—United States Master in Chancery E. B. Sherman, aged 76, was run down and badly injured today by an auto driven by George Mastle, a millionaire theatrical man. It is feared that the effects may be serious on account of Sherman's advanced age.

COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES AT THE THEATER TONIGHT

The St. Louis Browns defeated the Detroit team yesterday and helped themselves to the first place. Jones' heave to the plate allowed two scores winning the game for the Browns. Philadelphia broke even with New York in a double header, Boston won a thirteen inning contest from Washington, and Cleveland defeated the White Sox.

Pittsburg took a victory from the St. Louis Cardinals yesterday by the score of 4 to 3. Konetchy at four times at bat got a double and a single. The Cubs defeated Cincinnati, Philadelphia shut out Brooklyn, and Boston broke even with New York in a double header.

Schneiberg and Pape were in good form yesterday and shut out Louisville in two games. Schneiberg allowed but two hits the first game, and Pape allowed four in the second. St. Paul won a ten inning pitchers' battle from Columbus, Minneapolis defeated the Indianapolis team, and Kansas City won from Toledo.

Heard the news?

La Crosse won yesterday Some class to it, too, eight to three, and could have had more.

Indians certainly had an off day and Burwell, the southpaw, was easily touched for eight hits and as a rule, they came in bunches. With the exception of the fielding of Safford, the Colts played in pennant chasing form. They were on their toes all the time.

Oshkosh started things in the first inning after two men had been retired. Anklam and Olson swatted the ball for safe hits and then Johnson appeared. Johnson hit an easy fly to center garden and Safford got under it in fine shape but forgot to hold on to the sphere and allowed both Anklam and Olson to score. On the next play Warren went out, Bond to Tracy, and retired the side, although things looked dubious for the Colts.

Duchien at bat for La Crosse was given his usual base on balls, Tracey got a hit and Safford got to first when Burwell tried to put Tracey out at second. Graves was next up and with the bases full drove out a pretty single scoring Duchien and Tracey, and Safford come in on a wild throw. Becker sacrificed Graves and Bues got to first on a player's choice. Bond grounded out, retiring the side. After that there was nothing doing until the fourth inning. Killian started things off with a double and errors by Groh and Anklam allowed him to cross the plate.

In the next inning the Indians started a rally, Groh opening with a hit and was sacrificed by Burwell. Curtis got a hit, scoring Groh, but the next two men went out on grounders, cutting their rally short. In the next inning with one out Johnson, Warren and Mee bagged singles, filling the bases, but all that Groh could do was to hit to Jones, who threw Johnson out to Killian, who in turn threw Groh out to Tracey, in a pretty double play. After that Bubser's men could not locate the second bag.

La Crosse, fearing their one score to the good, in the seventh inning went in to make things safe. Tracey was first up and hit to Groh, who fumbled the ball. Safford drove to Curtis, who helped things along by fumbling the ball. Graves, next up, fanned the air after which Becker, Bues and Bond hit safe, scoring Tracey and Safford. Killian flew out to Dolan, who made a pretty run and

DOPE BOX

Ladies' day today.

Lynch and his aggregation of Fond du Lac players start today for three games.

Baillies will be in the box today for the opener.

As usual only a handful at the game yesterday. Ladies today will at least take up a little room.

Killian was behind the bat yesterday and conducted himself in grand style. He swatted out a two-bagger and caught two high fouls.

Duchien and Safford were the only Colts unable to locate the ball. Graves was there twice.

Every man on the Oshkosh team with the exception of Burwell found Jones.

The southpaw had little effect on the Colts. When a hit was needed it generally found.

Safford had an off day, failed to get a hit and dropped two easy flys.

While the last series with Oshkosh sounds bad, so far this season La Crosse has won four games and lost three and tied the Indians in one game.

A Mr. Weber, representing the north side proved to be a loyal fan. While he was loud he was certainly there with the enthusiasm.

Jones had four strike outs to his credit, two coming in the fourth inning.

Dolan played his usual fine game at center, making two pretty runs and catches.

Duchien had to keep up his record and the first time up went to first on a pass.

Freeport, 7-0; Wausau, 0-1.

FREEPORT, Ill., June 26.—Freeport and Wausau split even in a double header yesterday, the first game going to the locals 7 to 0, and the second a seven inning game to Wausau, 1 to 0. Ireland's fielding and base running, and the pitching of Rouse who worked both games, were features. Score:

EX?-SENATOR STEPHENSON

The Milwaukee Journal thus discusses the senatorial candidacy of "Uncle Ike" Stephenson:

"Has 'Progressive Republicanism' seen its best days in Wisconsin?

"Are the hunkers about to again come into what they regard as their own?

"Are the mutterings of the so-called La Follette men against the Chicago platform to grow louder?

"Will thousands of them vote for Bryan in November as thousands of Bryan democrats voted for La Follette in other years?

"These are questions which are being discussed in whispers. One man may answer them as well as another.

"Uncle Ike's candidacy for the full term as senator starts Wisconsin politics off with a rush, dog days or no dog days. Heartily approving in his announcement all that was done at Chicago, both as to candidates and to platform, he takes special pains to impress the fact that he indorses the platform without reservation. By the same token he is opposed to the Wisconsin idea, which the convention rejected after the committee had voted it down, as Mr. Stephenson points out, by a vote of 52 out of 53.

"The choice for vice president is to his liking, and he was originally for Fairbanks. The republicanism of Sherman and Fairbanks is the republicanism of the hunkers of Wisconsin.

"It is not the republicanism of La Follette.

"It is the republicanism that would keep the house in control of Cannon, Payne and Dalzell and would strengthen the hold of the Interests by giving the senate a presiding officer who has shown fidelity in carrying out Boss Joe's orders.'

"'Bob might be there crying out in the wilderness. But his voice would not last longer than eighteen hours."

It would seem to be the duty of the people of this state, regardless of party, to turn to the task of effectually squelching the political ambitions of this reactionary whose sheep's clothing has been lately thrown off. Isaac Stephenson represents neither the feeling of his own party, nor of any party, nor of any considerable faction of any party in this progressive state. His election is possible, if at all, through the concentration on him of the reactionary vote of both parties at a time when a multiplicity of progressive candidates, some of them illogical aspirants, has fatally split up the majority. Mr. Stephenson's pledge that he will stand for certain things in the senate would not be important, even though he were pledged to good things, for his pledge this year cannot be taken more seriously than one was justified in taking his pledge made to the legislature that if it would only let him have the short term he would seek no further honors in the senate. Two years and then some of non-representation, or misrepresentation, in the United States senate is about all the people of this state can afford. Mr. Stephenson, to tell the truth, was valuable to the cause of reform only when he was a silent contributor of funds, and even then his record and his personality in a measure offset the financial advantage derived from his association with the cause. During his masquerade in the senate as a progressive, he was dangerous because of his disguise. Now that he is openly and defiantly a reactionary, he is neither dangerous nor important, except as an entertainer. There should be no difficulty in convincing Senator Stephenson that in the future his place is a quiet nook at home; he should be urged to stay there by a handsome majority.

THE "WISCONSIN IDEA."

Today we have the views of Lincoln Steffens regarding the "Wisconsin Idea," and it is but fair to say that it is, although a non-partisan view, a view fixed by convictions arrived at long before the republican convention. Mr. Steffens is neither a republican nor a democrat, nor is he a socialist. His hope—forlorn to date— is that the two radical factions of the old parties may unite to create a party to which he can consistently belong. For a number of years he has been an admirer of Senator La Follette, and it would be unfair to present his utterances anent the La Follette episode in the republican convention as those of one convinced on the spot, for he is an ally of such men as La Follette, Bryan, Roosevelt and Cummins. However, he treats interestingly of the "Wisconsin Idea," and his exposition of the need of a new party alignment is both logical and entertaining. He says in part:

"And it was his (Roosevelt's) intention and he had planned wisely and well to the end that his party might carry on the work he had begun. He seized control of his party organization. He went out of the narrow way to do this. He broke good rules, and he has set dangerous precedents, to force his reluctant party to continue after his retirement to be the party of progress in America.

"It is as wrong for a president to name his successor as it is for him to take for himself the third forbidden term. No matter about that now, however. The point is that he has lost. In spite of his sacrifices, in spite of his apparent victory, he stands defeated.

"He may not think this. I have no doubt he soon will say that he is satisfied and that he believes his party will carry on his policies. But it won't. Mr. Taft may try to complete some of the reforms that Mr. Roosevelt has left unfinished. But his party will oppose him as it has the president. Mr. Taft is a conservative. He is not a liberal, even as Mr. Roosevelt has been. But like the president, Mr. Taft is honest, and there is not the slightest doubt that he will try, if he is elected to compel or by compromise persuade congress to stand for honesty and the square deal. But his party does not.

"The party platform shows that. Read it; read it slowly and with thought; then take up the minority report and read the planks which this party would not accept. I can not go into them here and now, but take one or two instances.

"Congressman Cooper from the Wisconsin delegation offered a plank requiring publicity upon campaign contributions. There can be no honest objection to that: It is a safe and sane blow at one of the methods of our political corruption. The resolution committee would have none of it. Mr. Cooper was the only man that voted for it, but he carried his platform out upon the floor, and there, fortunately, some delegate asked for a separate vote upon the publicity plank. And that convention beat that plank by an overwhelming vote.

"Taft may be for honesty in elections; his party is not. And honesty is not enough. Honesty is a fine virtue, and it may be rare. Certainly the way we Americans applaud it suggests that we have need of it. And honesty would indeed do much for us, but it won't solve all our problems.

"It is honest, for example, for a monopoly to raise the price for the necessities which it controls, but it may not be for the good of the people to leave a monopoly free to charge what it pleases. Roosevelt's railroad law recognizes that. That law requires a railroad to charge no more than a reasonable rate. But Senator La Follette and his Wisconsin republican friends put in their attempts to regulate the railroads of their state, that if they were to fix a reasonable rae, they must be able to determine the value of a railroad's property. So the Wisconsin delegation proposed for the national party a plank for the valuation of railroads.

"The railroads hate the idea; it is a menace not only to their rate-making powers of taxation, but also to stock-watering, and they opposed this plank; their representatives in the resolutions committee were against it and the committee threw it out.

"But Mr. Cooper carried it to the convention. There was a separate vote upon it, and it was voted out of sight. We need not go on. Labor got nothing; absolutely nothing; but no other common interest got anything, either. There is nothing new or clear, nothing definite or generous in that whole platform. The anti-injunction plank is an example. This plank contains a bow to the courts, a bow to labor, a bow to capital, and that's all. Read it yourself and see. The republican party stands pat. Now, please, don't misunderstand me. I am not finding fault. A conservative party is a natural and necessary thing. A large proportion of men are conservative and they should have a party; and when they are in a majority the conservative party should be in power.

"We need also a liberal party. A large proportion of men are naturally progressive and when they are in a majority the liberal party should be in power.

"But that has not been possible in this country. For example, I am not a conservative. I am a liberal. I want, like Roosevelt, to go on and on and on forever. And I think that at present I am one of a majority; I think that most of the people of the United States today want to go on. But whether I am in a majority or a minority I certainly should have a party; should not I?

"Well, for many years we liberals have had no party. We have tried the democratic party, but when it came into power it proved to be under the control of the same interests that owned the republican party. And those interests are conservative; they are very conservative; they are tories. They have a right to be tories. But they have no right to have two parties.

"It is not good for them to have two parties. For see, being so powerful they abused their power and they raised up a public opinion which created Theodore Roosevelt a liberal. And he made the old tory republican party liberal. It was hard to do; it meant fighting, but he was a fighter and he won the fight. But he did not complete his work. He made his party do liberal things; he did not make it liberal; as the result of this convention shows: He made it bow to labor and to the consumer; to the negro and to the common good. But its promises of progress are nil. It would have been better if the platform were more explicit; if it had said plainly the party stood for things as they are, but what it refused to say makes it also clear enough. The republican party is the conservative party. Let it be, and let every conservative vote for it. They can make their party serve us well if they will.

"But let those of us who want to go on to the solution of the next problem, and the next, and the next, let us go forth looking for a liberal party. Let us go to Denver and see what the democrats promise, and what they won't promise. Their organization has belonged to the tories; let us see if they can keep the control. For there are liberals among the democrats also, and they will make a fight. Let us see if they will win. And thus we may know whether we are to have a party of this kind, or, as heretofore, none."

The truth of the assertion that, "The evil that men do lives after them, the good is oft interred with their bones," depends. Men are remembered for their predominating characteristics. The man in whom evil was most apparent suffers the sting of the Shakespearean axiom; the man in whom most deeds and impulses were good, will be remembered as a good man. Mark Hanna is recalled as a political boss who commercialized government in the interest of the wealthy; Cleveland will be remembered as a patriotic and able executive and an honest citizen. Both these men had good traits, and bad traits. The ruling factors in the character of each are his monument, be the inscription good or bad.

James Kahn, manager of the Incubus company, has defaulted, taking every available dollar of his employer's money. The only clue to his whereabouts is found in S. R. Crockett's wonderful novel, "The Iron Lord," which will be presented to readers of this paper in serial form beginning Monday, June 24, previous to its appearance in book form, this paper having acquired first publication rights to it.

It is no longer dangerous for some newspapers to recognize the greatness of Grover Cleveland.

PARTY PLATFORMS

(From the Boston Traveler.)

Political parties formulate and adopt platforms with all the solemnity and ardor that a bibulous sinner "swears off" at the beginning of the new year, and they live up to them with about the same zeal and fidelity. Some political cynic once defined a platform as something to get in on but not to stand on. Technically parties stand on their platforms, for in the mutations of political life, in the changes which expediency demands and the shifts which opportunism dictates, the platform is frequently under foot.

Platforms are merely traditional and additional methods of fooling foolish voters; they never say what they mean or mean what they say; they are expedients to divert public attention from real evils by declaiming against evils that seldom exist, and, as both parties agree in the fooling and the fooled are content to be fooled, the farce goes on forever.

FILIPINOS UNFIT

(From the Springfield, Mass., Republican.)

That the Filipinos are unfit for self government is shown by the action of the assembly in reducing the per diem pay of members 33 per cent. Such at least will be the view of members of the present Massachusetts legislature, who vote up their salaries in hard times instead of down. This consideration by the Filipino representatives of the people themselves is calculated to arouse feelings of contempt and pity in pretty nearly every legislative body in America.

SPOTLIGHTS

Saturday Matinee—"East Lynne."

"East Lynne," the great heart story, a play that has brought tears to the eyes of two generations of play goers, will be presented by the Van Dyke & Eaton company at the La Crosse theater Saturday afternoon and night.

Specialties will be given between acts, especially pleasing for the little folks. On Saturday night a prize amateur contest will be given after the regular performance by the company.

"In the Hands of the Czar" will be the bill for Sunday matinee and night at which time Miss Eaton will appear in her $1,500 "Mother of Pearl" gown.

Names of the couple who are to be married on the stage during the play on next Tuesday night, will be announced from the stage on Sunday afternoon.

The "Juvenile opera company" will remain in La Crosse and appear between acts both Saturday and Sunday, matinees and nights.

A fitting climax to a month of unparalleled bargains will be the last of the "Dollar Days" at Doerflinger's—tomorrow, Saturday. The greatest values of all the great three days' sale will be offered.
ers for "Dollar Day" at Doerflinger's Tomorrow: 6 knives, 6 forks, 6 tea-spoons, 6 table-spoons, 1 paring knife, 1 cake knife and 1 slicer; 27 pieces, for $1.00 Saturday only—in the Basement.

The Punishment Fits the Crime.

A new consignment of punsters and professional jokers had just been brought before His Satanic Majesty to receive sentence.

"And what shall their punishment be, sire?" asked the Hades executioner.

"To the caldron with them," laughed Satan. "Thus may it be put on record that to the very last they 'bubbled over with humor!' "—Lippincott's.

QUIPS AND CRANKS AND WANTON WILES

A Dyspeptic Ode.

Let poets rave, as poets will,
About the heart's control,
And in their lofty lyrics still
Its vital worth extol;
I, who must walk in humble ways
And modest muses woo,
I write this simple song to praise
The liver good and true.

Pray tell me what are hearts to men,
What's anything, alack!
To us poor bilious creatures when
The liver's out of whack?
While sentiment, I grant it, is Quite proper in its place,
Yet when we get right down to "biz"
The liver sets the pace.

So let's not to the dreamy bards'
Soft caroling succumb,
For he who clearest truth regards
Will keep his liver plumb;
He knows full well a heart may bless
A mortal, in a way,
But oh- it's quite "N. G." unless
His liver is "O. K."

And here and now I make my plaint
To all the cooks: Beware
On what you feed us, for a saint
On bile-distressing fare
Must soon become a demon! Yes,
You guide us, day by day,
For piousness and biliousness
Go different paths, they say.
—Nixon Waterman in Success Magazine.

Turning It About.

A number of confederate prisoners during the civil war, were detailed at one of the western military posts under conditions much less unpleasant than those to be found in the ordinary military prison. Most of them appreciated their comparatively good fortune. One young fellow, though, could not be reconciled to association with Yankees under any circumstances, and took advantage of every opportunity to express his feelings. He was continually rubbing it in about the battle of Chickamauga, which had just been fought with such disastrous results for the union forces.

"Maybe we didn't eat you up at Chickamauga," was the way he generally greeted a blue coat.

The union men, when they could stand it no longer, reported the matter to Gen. Grant. Grant summoned the prisoner.

"See here," said Grant, "I understand that you are continually insulting the men here with reference to the battle of Chickamauga. They have borne with you long enough, and I'm going to give you your choice of two things. You will either take the oath of allegiance to the United States or be sent to a northern prison. Choose."

The prisoner waas silent for some time. "Well," he said at last, in a resigned tone, "I reckon, general, I'll take the oath."

The oath was duly administered. Turning to Grant, the fellow then asked, very penitently, if he might speak.

"Yes," said Grant indifferently. "What is it?"

"Why, I was just thinkin', general," he drawled, "they certainly did give us hell at Chickamauga."—Everybody's.

A Parallel Case

In the late financial stringency a clerk in one of the New York banks was trying to explain to a stolid old Dutchman why the bank could not pay cash to depositors as formerly, and was insisting that he be satisfied with clearing house checks. But the old German could not grasp the situation, and finally the president of the bank was called upon to enlighten the dissatisfied customer. After a detailed explanation of the financial situation, the president concluded, "Now, my good man, you understand, don't you?"

"Yes," dubiously replied the Dutchman, "I tinks I understand. It's just like dis, ven my baby vakes up in der night and cries for milk I give her a milk-ticket."—Harper's Weekly.

What He Said

"Waiter," said a traveler in a railroad restaurant, "did you say I had twenty minutes to wait or that it ws twenty minutes to eight?"

"Nyeher. Oi said ye had twinty minutes to ate, an' thot's all ye did have. Yer train's just gone."—Everybody's Magazine.

Philippine School Books

The other day I took my company on a practice march to Mariquina. When we reached the river we had to wait several minutes for the old rope ferry to come over. Just then two Filipino boys came along on their way to Pasig.

The whining school boy, with his satchel
And shining morning face, creeping like a snail
Unwillingly to school.

I asked one of them, a lad about 12, to show me his school books. These consisted of a second reader, a speller and an arithmetic, and differed from those in the United States principally in the word hordes. Was there no interesting tale of apple stealing? Not exactly; it was "mangas" the bad boys had stolen; yet the same terrible retribution had overtaken the thieves as had overtaken them when our great trust magnates were schoolboys. It was Pedro, not John, who was drowned because he went fishing on Sunday. The arithmetic had examples in bananas and pesetas instead of in plums and dimes.—Army and Navy.

What We May Expect

Detective—A glass of ale, please.

Barkeeper—We don't keep ale. Nothing but soft drinks.

Detective—Then kindly give me a glass of water. I am thirsty.

Barkeeper—Sorry, but our water is hard.—Bohemian.

Visitor—You must have a remarkably efficient board of health in this town. Shrewd Native (one in many)—You are right about that, I can tell you. "Composed of scientists, I presume?" "No, sir. Scientists are too theoretical." "Physicians, perhaps?" "Not much. We don't allow doctors on our board of health—no, sir—not undertakers, either." "Hum! What sort of men have you chosen, then?" "Life Insurance agents."

Some men are so giddy they can't even be trusted with their own wives.

Little Journeys to the Tombs of American Presidents

Grave and Monument of Zachary Taylor.

Unknown to the vast majority of the citizens of Kentucky, neglected by the few who do know it, the tomb of the only president of the United States that the commonwealth has within her borders to revere, is overrun with weeds and vile undergrowth seven miles east of Louisville on the Brownsboro road. Aside from Lincoln Major General Zachary Taylor is the only president Kentucky may claim, and this not because of his birth, but because of his affection for the soil that nurtured him and which he regarded as his home.

President Taylor's grave is in the burying ground of the Taylor family, established by his father, Colonel Richard H. Taylor, of revolutionary fame, on the old Taylor homestead between the Brownsboro and the River roads next to the place famous as Glenview, stock farm. It is situated on a slight eminence commanding the surrounding fields and farms and is in plain view from the road along which half of the people who drive do not know that the plain white granite shaft surmounted by a human figure commemorates a hero of the Indian and Mexican wars, as well as a president of the United States.

In the tranquil simplicity with which this spot stands out from the rest of the landscape before the casual observer along the Brownsboro road there is a perfect embodiment of the last words of the soldier-statesman, who as he entered the valley of the shadow, said:

"I have tried to do my duty, I am ready to die; my only regret is for the friends I leave behind me."

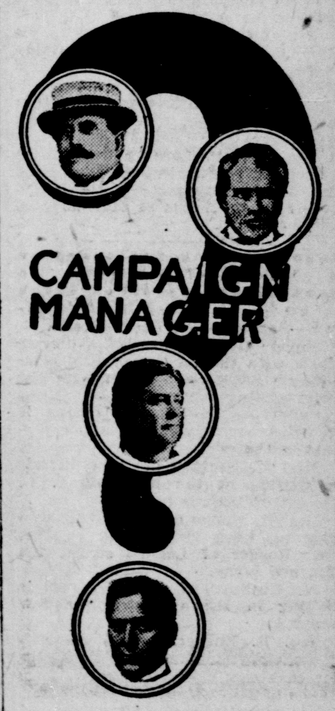

President Taylor's burial place was selected by himself in the request that he should be allowed to lie beside his father. The tomb in which are the bodies of General Taylor and his wife was constructed by a grateful government in recognition of his military and legislative services. Many a rumor has gained currency that the bodies have been removed to Cave Hill cemetery, but none of these are true. There was an effort made at one time to remove the tomb to Frankfort, but on the protest of descendants of General Taylor then living, this was abandoned.

The tomb itself is built in a gentle hillside, the front faced with native limestone and severely plain. It is closed by an iron door without paneling or ornamentation of any kind. The sides and rear have been graded up to and sodded over until, on the first near view of the burying ground it is overlooked. It was built at the expense of the federal government in 1851 under an appropriation of $4,000 of which $1,500 was returned to the national treasury.

The monument, of New Hampshire granite, was erected by the commonwealth of Kentucky, through an act of the legislature of 1877-8, when an appropriation of $4,000 was made for the purpose. Of this amount $1,500 was expended by the commission composed of General Buford, Francis Cleveland, of Augusta, Ky., and the present Hancock Taylor, of Louisville—a grand-nephew of General Taylor—in acquiring enough ground to complete one square acre and in inclosing this with a rough stone wall with iron gates at the southwest corner.

The monument is about 100 feet south and a trifle to the east of the entrance to the tomb.

Reading from top to bottom they are ex-Gov. Myron T. Herrick of Ohio; Frank B. Kellogg of Minnesota; Senator W. E. Borah of Idaho and Frank O. Lowden of Illinois.

CINCINNATI, O., June 25.—To represent the republican campaign manager, Hitchcock has requested that he be not considered for the place, but this is far from a positive refusal to serve, and many think he will be drafted to the position. When the sub-committee, composed of the the veteran Powell Clayton of Arkansas, and including former Gov. Myron T. Herrick of Ohio, Frank B. Kellogg of Minnesota, Charles Nagel of Missouri, E. E. Hart of Iowa, Senator W. E. Borah of Idaho, E. C. Duncan of North Carolina and Frank O. Lowden of Illinois, journeyed to this city last Saturday to confer with Taft and Sherman it was confidentially expected that the selection would be made at once, but owing to the somewhat complicated nature of the problem before them, it was deemed advisable to adjourn to July 1 at Washington, when the selection will be made. The eight members of the committee have full power to act in selecting a man to fill this very important place, and on the result of their choice will hinge the campaign of next fall.

FLOOD SITUATION ON S. M. IMPROVED

TRAINS WILL BE RUNNING BY NEXT WEEK

STUB LINE TO RUSHFORD

Water Is Receding and Officials Believe Tracks Can Soon Be Repaired

The situation on the Southern Minnesota remains about the same today as yesterday. The railway company has established a stub train that runs as far east as Rushford and back to Isenours, but it is unable to get any farther.

Train No. 23 was brought in via Reno and Preston after remaining there over 48 hours. The water is receding all along the line and possibly the track will be repaired so that the trains will be able to run next week.

The towns that are isolated will be in need of provisions before long and the company is using every effort to repair the washouts as soon as possible.

ST. JOSEPH CLASS HOLD GRADUATION

STRIKINGLY PRETTY PROGRAM AT ST. JOSEPH'S HALL

REWARD EFFORTS OF SISTERS

Young Ladies and Gentlemen Render Splendid Program Which Pleases Large Audience

The commencement at St. Joseph's school last evening was a very pretty affair. Praise is due to the sisters in charge of the exercises, as the large crowd that was present unanimously agreed that the entertainment was one of the most delightful ever witnessed in the hall.

The hall was a mass of bright colors and the stage, prettily decorated, was a fitting background for the young people who were the center of attraction. The young men and women graduates were given diplomas from St. Joseph's school and a large number of friends and relatives wished them the same success in the future as they had aachieved in the past. The following were the graduates: Edwin Schuld, George Netwall, Aloysis Guentner, Frank Bedessem, Leo Foater, Alma Reget, Isabella Roth, Irene Boeckmann, Eleanora Knothe, Emma Scheitbach, Mary Dresen, Elizabeth Riegger.

The program opened with a pleasing instrumental piece by the St. Cecilian club. The class then rendered a welcome song in a very pleasing manner. Aloysis Guentner spoke on the class motto, "Rowing, not Drifting." He spoke in a very clear manner and told what the motto meant and how every one should keep busy and avoid idleness as a crime.

A sailor drill, the next event on the program, was very cleverly carried out and showed the result of careful practice and attention. The girls gave way to Leo Foster, who recited a German piece entitled "Der Glockenguss."

The next event on the program deserves special praise as it was probably the best of the entertainment. The Merry-making Minstrels by the 7th and 8th grade boys. It opened with the Darkies' Greeting and after some clever jokes two of the little darkies in their dress suits sang a very pretty selection entitled Schoolmates. After another interval of jokes and monologues which brought down the house, Vincent Roth and Robert Hackner sang Suwanee River to the immense pleasure of the audience. The whole chorus then joined in a jig as a finale.

The pantomine "Lead, Kindly Light," was very effectively carried out with the aid of a spotlight. The Mazurka by M. and K. Foster was a very entertaining feature, and the Cradle Song of Many Nations was one of the most ingenious things seen for a long while. First three little girls entered with doll buggies draped in the colors of the United States, then followed nine little German maids representing the Vaterland, who sang the German cradle song. Maids from Norway, Indian maids with papooses, little colored girls and maids from Italy followed in succession, the act closing with a chorus.

A chorus of fifty boys then sang a very delightful Anchor Song and the primary boys gave an act called Kriegsruestung in der Kueche, in which they get into their mother's kitchen and with kitchen utensils compose what is commonly known as a tin pan band. Mother appearing causes the boys to scatter and the act ends. A Tableau Group by the class was a very pretty scene which was made very beautiful with the aid of the colored spotlights. Another very delightful piece by the St. Cecilia club, and a German song Wahrheit were rendered, and E. Schuld gave the valedictorian address, entitled True Nobility. He spoke very plainly for what nobility was and how the class should seek to be noble and upright in the future.

Bishop Schwebach then gave a few words of advice to the class and told of the good done by the school and after thanking the Sisters and the pastor he blessed the children prior to granting the diplomas. The diplomas were then given to the joyful graduates and the entertainment was brought to a close.

FIGHT OCCURS OVER LOST JOB

"I'll bet you $5 I can kick you—you're afraid to come over in the park." These with several other such remarks finally ended in a brawl about noon yesterday on Second street near the Hotel Law buffet, and the main parties in the fight were Stephen Yohe, an ex-employe of the Arctic Ice and Fuel company, and A. Ferguson, an employe of the same company.

It is alleged that the quarrel arose over Yohe being fired from the employ of the company and Yohe alleged that it was through the work of Ferguson that it happened. After a quarrel at the ice house this morning things were patched up, but Yohe did not appear to be satisfied and later took up the feud near the Hotel Law saloon. Yohe, it is alleged by bystanders, drew a knife and is said to have made a pass at Ferguson, who is a big fellow, while Yohe is a small man.

After scuffling for some time Ferguson, it is alleged, was getting the worst of the deal and friends came to his assistance and after several had got on top of Yohe the attention of Drs. Powell was attracted and they appeared and stopped the fight.

Ferguson was considerably lacerated, after the brawl, and took a car for the North side. A warrant has been issued for Yohe.

THREE DELEGATES TO LAKE GENEVA

The proceeds of the Japanese social given recently by the Y. W. C. A. were sufficient to send three delegates to the Lake Geneva conference, Aug. 14 to 24th and Misses Magna Larson, Luella Knuteson and Clara Andrews will attend.

Miss Jennie Backus, general secretary of the Local Y. W. C. A. leaves for her two months vacation at her home at Jamestown, N. Y., and during her absence her place will be filled by Miss Bertha Hoefke.

HIGH SCHOOL PLAY SPLENDID SUCCESS

WILL UNDOUBTEDLY BECOME A COMMENCEMENT FEATURE

CASTE PLAYS PART WELL

Miss Cora Schulze as Mary Melrose Is Real Actress and Other Players Receive High Praise

The senior class play given last evening in the High school auditorium met with even greater success than expected. The performance was witnessed by a large and appreciative audience. The play was carried through without a hitch and the dramatic talent shown by some of the actors was very gratifying to the parents and faculty. The cast of "Our Boys" was picked from the graduating class and coached by Prof. Benezet and Mrs. William Luening. The class play will no doubt become a permanent feature of commencement week in the future.

The plot of "Our Boys" proved to be very interesting. Two Englishmen, one a baronet, and the other a wealthy butterman, are expecting the return of their sons from abroad. The sons have already met in Paris and have become very friendly. Visiting at the baronet's home are two girls, very good looking, one an heiress and the other a poor girl. The baronet has set his heart on having his son marry the heiress, but the son thinks differently and loves the poor damsel. The heiress and the butterman's son have met abroad and have become very fond of each other. The butterman thinks his son will marry the poor girl and both fathers are sure that their sons will obey them in the matter.

The sons, however, will not give in to the wishes of the parents and are turned out. They meet with poor success in the world and finally land in a third rate lodging house where their parents and sweethearts find them. The third act is the story of their reconciliation aand "they lived happily ever after."

Miss Cora Schulze of the North side, as Mary Melrose, the poor cousin, displayed rare dramatic ability for an amateur player, and favorable comments upon her acting were heard in all parts of the auditorium. She was not alone in a display of ability, however, for the others in the cast were also recipients of much praise.

The cast of characters was as follows:

Sir Geoffry Champneys, a country magnate ..... Hugh Moss
Talbot Champneys, his son .P. Esch
Perkyn Middlewick of Devonshire House, a retired buttermaker.. ..... Carl Neprud
Charles Middlewick, his son ..... Benj. Stevens
Kemster, Sir Geoffrey's man servant ..... William Bonneville
Poddles, Middlewick's butler ..... Clarence Weber
Violet Melrose, an heiress ..... Gertrude Smith
Mary Melrose, her poor cousin .. .. Cora Schulze
Clarissa Champneys, Sir Geoffry's sister ..... Ella Horne
Belinda, a lodging house slave... ..... Olga Kaiser

Act 1. Drawing room at the Middlewick house.
Act 2. Drawing room at Sir Geoffry Champneys'.
Act 3. Sitting room at Mrs. Patcham's third rate lodging house.

HUB MILLER
is going to retire and offers his saloon in the New Theater building for sale. This is a chance of a lifetime for the right party.

LA CROSSE SENDS TRAIN TO VIROQUA

An excursion on the La Crosse & Southeastern railroad to Viroqua will be given Sunday under the auspices of the Knights of Columbus. The purpose of the excursion is the dedication of the new Catholic church in Viroqua. The dedication address will be given by Bishop Schwebach. It is expected that about three hundred people will attend the ceremony from La Crosse and many others are expected from the towns in the vicinity of Viroqua.

In the Catholic churches of the city masses will be held at 6 and 8 a. m. and the 10 o'clock and afternoon services will be dispensed with, so that all may go to the dedication. The excursion train leaves La Crosse at 9 o'clock. The excursionists will be met at the depot at Viroqua by the Viroqua Regimental brass band and conducted to the scene of the exercises.

The arrangements are in the hands of Albert P. Funk.

BOY HURT IN FALL FROM CAR

Eugene Dugan, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Dugan of French Island, was probably seriously injured last night through a fall from a swiftly moving street car in the 1300 block on Rose street. He was picked up in an unconscious condition and was removed to the St. Francis hospital.

The boy is about 10 years of age and was one of a party of pupils of the St. James school who had been picnicking in Myrick park and were then being taken around the loop for a ride. A lurch of the car caused the boy to lose his balance and he fell, striking his head on the brick pavement and narrowly missed being run over by the car.

The boy is now resting easily but it is still impossible to ascertain the extent of his injuries.

FOURTH OF JULY BLOWOUT

Vernon County Seat Plans a Big Time on the Fourth—Speeches and Noise

VIROQUA, Wis., June 26.—(Special.)—The case of Mary Bates vs. C. M. & St. P. commenced Wednesday in the circuit court at Viroqua, is for $2,500 damages claimed by the plaintiff. The complaint charges that on the 15th of August, 1905, at the pit of the baggage room at the C. M. & St. P. depot at La Crosse plaintiff sustained a fracture of the ankle joint of the right foot and another fracture one and one-half inches above the same ankle joint, and other sprains, injuries and bruises. The defense asserted that the plaintiff had no right in the baggage room, having been specifically told to stay in the waiting room, and that she was guilty of want of ordinary care in not observing the pit; that entering the premises as she did she would be required to take the conditions as they were. That the baggage room was constructed in the usual and ordinary way and was a convenient method for moving of baggage and was not intended for the use of passengers, and as such was of proper construction. The attorneys were E. C. Higbee of La Crosse, J. Henry Bennett and Hon. D. O. Mahoney for the plaintiff; and E. C. Vroman, assistant general solicitor of the C. M. & St. P. Ry. Co., of Chicago, and C. W. Graves for the defense. Mrs. Bates is well known in this locality, having made her home for many years on a farm south of the city as well as more recently living directly in Viroqua.

Fourth of July Celebration.

Plans for the Fourth of July celebration at Viroqua are being completed this week, and according to the arrangements the program will commence at 9 o'clock with free vaudeville attractions on the street. The parade forms at the high school block and goes west to Nuzum's lumber yard, north on Main street to Decker street, west on Decker street to the Tabernacle grounds.

A patriotic program will be delivered in the Tabernacle building, with Secretary of State Frear as the speaker of the day. Music will be furnished by the Third Infantry band and the Westby band. Dinner will be served, with accommodations for 2,000 people, in the Floral hall on the fair grounds by the Fourth of July committee and the proceeds used to defray the expenses of the day.

Following the dinner exhibition drills will be given at the fair grounds by the visiting military companies. Company L of Sparta, assisted by the Third Infantry band, will give the guard mount and there will be a sham battle by the entire battalion. Also athletic sports on the track, Roman hippodrome races, and daylight fire works.

The La Crosse Athletes and the Viroqua White Sox close the sports program.

Viroqua Briefs.

Hans Christianson, son of Dr. Christianson of La Crosse, has been at Viroqua visiting with friends.

Jacob Aberg, one of the jurymen from the vicinity of West Prairie, had a very painful accident last Friday. While leading a cow the rope pulled through his hand, catching on his right thumb with a half hitch and broke the bone, pulling the bone out through the flesh.

There will be a party at Willard Wiganosky's on Saturday evening, about 30 guests being invited.

Miss Lulu Riley is at Prairie du Chien visiting friends and expects to be absent about three weeks.

The Galesville Greys play the Viroqua White Sox at the home grounds Saturday and Sunday. The teams have defeated the New Albin nine and are said to be evenly matched. Galesville has the St. Paul Gophers' colored battery of last year, Davis, Hegge and Shafer.

The Vernon County Land company has moved into the rooms in the Dahl block, formerly occupied for office purposes by Dr. Baldwin.

The Viroqua Greys play the Westby nine Sunday at Westby.

Sheriff Abner Silbaugh had his barn blown off the foundations during the wind storm of Monday night.

Hon. R. M. Bashford, of Madison, was at Viroqua Wednesday and Thursday to get an order from Judge Fruit confirming a foreclosure sale at Sparta this week in which Mr. Bashford was personally interested.

Berlie Moore and family moved this week into the Peter Oftendahl house.

E. J. Hammer, attorney of Hillsboro, is in attendance at circuit court at Viroqua this week.

Earl Seaton and wife returned this week from a visit with friends at Chicago.

Elmer Straight and Robert Small will occupy the Robert Kundahl house, Mr. Kundahl and little daughter making their home with Mrs. Ida Hulsether.

Adolph Becham and family are expecting to leave for Butte, Montana, in the near future.

Mrs. Jack Tewalt spent last Sunday with Mrs. George Davenport at Sparta upon her return from Prairie du Chien, where she has been at the sanitarium.

Miss Hattie Dickson has returned from her school at Valley in the eastern part of the county.

Mrs. C. J. Smith entertained the Bridge Whist club at her home Tuesday afternoon, and the ladies afterwards attended the Electric theatre.

Miss Della Smith left Wednesday evening for Seattle, going by way of Calgary, Canada, Vancouver and down by boat to Seattle. Miss Smith has been employed at Seattle in a millinery establishment for some three years and was summoned to Viroqua a short time ago by the death of her sister Ella.

The case of E. E. Potts vs. E. E. McCollum was tried on Wednesday and given to the jury in the afternoon, who returned a verdict on Thursday morning. The matter in controversy was the recovery of rent claimed by Potts of a portable sawmill to McCollum and damage done to the same. The verdict was for $139 in favor of plaintiff.

Mrs. Otto Otteson entertained the Embroidery club on Thursday afternoon at her home.

Miss Grace Adlington was given a surprise party by the Lindemann clerical force and a few others at the Smeby home on Wednesday evening in honor of her birthday.

R. T. Bentson has returned from Minneapolis, where he attended the convention of the United Lutheran church.

Mrs. C. H. Muren has returned to her Madison home, after an extended visit with Viroqua relatives.

Otto Otteson is visiting his sister, Mrs. Theo. Tollefson of Waterloo, Ia., and will also visit his brother at Arne Flicke's at Mason City.

Mrs. Thos. Tolrud and little son are visiting Viroqua friends. Mrs. Tolrud was returning from a visit with her mother at Madison to her western home at Lavina, Mont., and finding she was to be delayed by the washouts came down to Viroqua for a few days.

Miss Mattie Hoffland entertained a few young lady friends on Wednesday evening. The evening was spent with games and in a social way aand refreshments served.

Misses Mary and Frances Baker, who graduated from the Milwaukee normal this year, have returned to their home at Viroqua.

Miss Genevieve Truesdale entertained a large party of little friends at her home on Wednesday evening in honor of her seventh birthday. The little guests were invited from 6 to 8 and had a delightful play time, as well as enjoying the excellent refreshments served.

Frank Graves and Mrs. C. W. Graves went to Sparta Thursday morning in response to a telephone message of Mrs. Lapham's condition, which is thought not to be improving

RESTRICTIONS ARE ADDED IN RUSSIA

VIENNA, June 26.—A dispatch from St. Petersburg says the Russian minister of education has issued a decree limiting the number of Jewish students in the Russian universities to 3 per cent of the total enrollment, and excluding them from the medical, dental and all technical colleges. All the women were recently excluded.

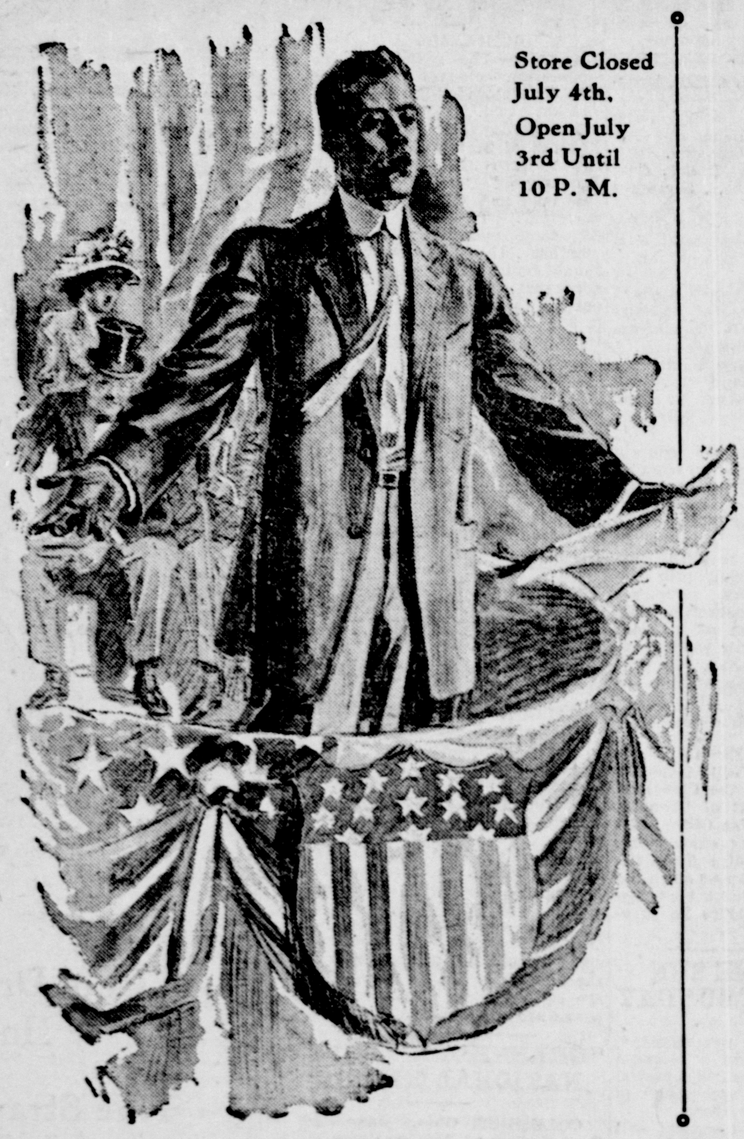

It is feared the new edict will rekindle the anti-Jewish prejudice and lead to outbreaks.

OLD SLEUTH COUP IN JEALOUS LOVES

MR. AND MRS. FRANK GOULD EACH HAD DETECTIVES

THEY WATCHED EACH OTHER

Wife Names Pretty Singer in Petition for an Absolute Divorce From Husband

NEW YORK, June 26.—That Frank J. Gould, crazed by jealousy of his young wife, for years kept her surrounded by private detectives in the guise of servants, while Mrs. Gould in her turn filled his yacht with a crew of gum shoe sleuths in her employ, were some of the revelations made late yesterday in connection with New York's latest millionaire divorce scandal.

Following the serving of a summons yesterday on Mr. Gould in a suit for absolute divorce, there came the announcement that Mrs. Gould will seek her freedom on statutory grounds. The most sensational feature in the action has to do with an episode on Mr. Gould's yacht, Helenita, in which a young singer, whose name has not been divulged, played a leading part.

It will be alleged, according to report, that Mr. Gould has for several years been training this woman's voice for the grand opera stage under the best masters in Europe, and that she accompanied him on long cruises on his yacht.

Gould Unaware of All Charges.

A specific act of misconduct with the young woman will be alleged to have taken place three or four years ago off Sidney, Nova Scotia. There will be much testimony from former members of the Helenita's crew.

This, it is said, was only one of a number of acts of misconduct, to be charged by Mrs. Gould against her husband. The nature of the specific acts not even Mr. Gould will know for several days, as he has not been served with the full complaint.

Meet at Ball; Love at Sight.

Frank Jay Gould first met his wife at a ball in the Berkshire hills. It was love at sight. He was 19 years old, she 17.

Publicly, for five years, their domestic life was ideal. They passed much of their time yachting. Not until 1906 was their sea of content the scene of squaalls. Then came rumors that all was not well.

The most serious of their differences came this spring, when Mrs. Gould determined to seek a divorce. Frank Gould laid their troubles to "the curse of gold" and "too much mother-in-law." To the later plea, the mother-in-law replied it "was a case of a mother trying to save her child from a broken heart."

"Happy if on Desert Isle."

Mrs. Gould blamed the newspapers and said "lies" of false friends had done much to cause her hearthside infelicity. On April 18, after the report of her intended action in the courts, she made the following dramatic statement:

"I love my husband, but there are some things at times that appear unbearable. If they would only leave us alone; if Mr. Gould and I were alone upon a desert island we would be the happiest people in the world."

Calm Before the Storm.

About this time it appeared efforts of the families of each at another reconciliation had been successful. It was declared in the press that the couple would be living together again.

SCHOOLS CLOSE FOR SUMMER

Today is the happiest day of the year for the school children of La Crosse for the reason that the schools close for the summer vacation. The promotions to high school will not be made public until tomorrow but it is expected that a large class will enter. The high school closes tonight with the commencement exercises when the class of '08 will receive their diplomas. The junior promenade follows the commencement exercises held at the La Crosse theater.

REDMEN TO HOLD A JOINT PICNIC

At a meeting of the Redmen lodge last evening it was decided to hold a joint picnic with the Winona lodge about the middle of July.

The Winnishiek tribe of the local lodge will charter a boat and go to Dakota, where they will meet the We-no-nah tribe from Winona and join in annual celebration.

Another meeting will be held in a few days when committees to take charge of the arrangements will be named.

LISTMAN MAN CANNOT SERVE

PROCTER & GAMBLE P&G NAPHTHA SOAP

Not Necessary to Boil Clothes

Some women think it is; but that does not alter the facts.

Nine-tenths of the discomfort and half the hard work of wash-day is due to the idea which so many women have, that it is necessary to boil clothes.

It is, if you use ordinary laundry soap. But not, if you use P. & G. Naphtha Soap.

With P. & G. Naphtha Soap and cold, or lukewarm water, you can do more work and better work, than with ordinary laundry soap and boiling water. Do it quicker. Do it easier.

P. & G. Naphtha Soap is for sale in almost every grocery in this city.

The price is 5 cents a cake.

LANGDON CAN'T SERVE ON 4TH COMMITTE

"Please say for me that owing to a previous engagement it will be impossible for me to serve on the parade committee for the Fourth of July celebration," said J. E. Langdon to a Tribune representative today. Mr. Langdon wishes the enterprise success, but the lateness of the appointment was responsible for his time on the Fourth being otherwise engaged.

CRUSHED BEFORE HELPLESS THRONG

CHICAGO, June 26.—Hundreds of pedestrians today looked on in horror while an unknown man was crushed to death on the corner of Lake and Dearborn streets. A street car collided with a wagon, causing the wagon to be swung sharply around, crushing the man to a pulp against one of the steel pillars of the elevated structure.

DRUM PASTOR OUT OF TOWN.

TRENTON, N. J., June 26. — The Rev. Jarvis Clinton Worden was "drummed" out of town yesterday as a result of his complaints to the police that two little girls in bloomers were doing gymnastic stunts in their father's back yard. He said the exhibition was disgraceful. It was learned that the children were exercising by the direction of their father.

TAFT EXAMINES MAIL

Pallbearers Will Walk

The pallbearers will walk beside the hearse. Scores of beautiful floral offerings are pouring into the Cleveland home today including great wreaths from Roosevelt and his wife. In anticipation of a great crowd, scores of souvenir venders invaded Princeton today. Button photos of the dead ex-president are offered at every corner. The police gave all fakirs twenty minutes to leave town.

A Comrade's Tears

One of the most pathetic incidents today was the visit to the Cleveland home of Tony Leggett of Trenton, who for many years was Cleveland's companion on shooting expeditions. As he came down stairs from the death room, tears streamed down his furrowed face, with head bent low and heaving his shoulders he turned away.

ECLIPSE OF THE SUN TO BE SEEN SUNDAY

If the day is clear next Sunday, La Crosseites will have a splendid opportunity to witness a partial eclipse of the sun, according to Weather Observer Thompson.

About noon the first contact will occur and until about 2 o'clock the sun will be partially over-shadowed by the moon.

One of the most interesting moments of the eclipse will be that of the first contact and it will not be possible to see this phase without some protection for the eyes.

WATER SHOWS A SLIGHT DECLINE

After being within a few inches of flood stage throughout the entire spring and this far into the summer, the river has at last started to fall, a slight drop being recorded today.

The high water during the past few months has done considerable damage in some localities, in some instances whole sections of farms being covered with sand, while in other places the most fertile land has been washed away.

BETSY ROSS FLAG STORY "FAKE"

PHILADELPHIA, June 26.—In the list of 300 places of interest in Philadelphia prepared by the historical sites committee for the coming Founders' week celebration there is no mention of the Betsy Ross flaghouse at 239 Arch street, and not a few historical societies are agog over the omission.

"The Betsy Ross story is a fake beyond question," declared William J. Campbell, who presided at the meeting of the committee. Mr. Campbell personally investigated the flaghouse. His report on the building to the committee reads: "Where Betsy Ross did not design the American flag. The story is a fake and there is positively no evidence in its favor."

"The school book story is nothing but a foolish tradition," Mr. Campbell further explained. "Betsy Ross never had any interview with George Washington. She was no more than an ordinary seamstress, and no doubt was glad to get a day's work sewing on any flag, five stars or otherwise."

MOTHER DROWNS 4 CHILDREN.

IDA GROVE, Ia., June 26.—While her husband was in the field plowing corn Mrs. August P. Johnson drowned her four little children in the cistern at their farm home south of town today. The youngest was 1 year old and the eldest 6; two boys and two girls. After she had drowned the children she tried to drown herself, but neighbors who had arrived at the place interfered. Word was sent to town and when Will Anderson reached the home Mrs. Johnson was trying to choke herself with a bed cover.

The little ones were pulled out of the cistern. Efforts made to resuscitate them were in vain. The insanity commissioners will act on Mrs. Johnson's case and she probably will be committed to an asylum.

OGLES OUR FIRST LADIES.

CONSTANTINOPLE, June 26. — The sultan of Turkey, anxious to win the esteem of the American public, has conferred on Mrs. Roosevelt and daughter Ethel the decoration of Grand Cordon of Chefakat. This decoration is of the highest grade in Turkey, and is reserved for special favorites of the sultan.

STOLE $51,000.

PITTSBURG, Pa., June 25. — Charged with having robbed the First National bank of Pittsburg of $51,000 when he was discount clerk there, Harry T. Tiers, real estate man of Pittsburg, was last evening placed under arrest by the United States authorities, charged with embezzlement. He later gave $10,000 bail for a hearing. Tiers has not been employed by the bank for two years.

FILLMORE COUNTY FOR JACOBSON

CALEDONIA, Minn., June 26.—(Special.)—The republican county convention held for the purpose of electing delegates to the state convention at St. Paul next week came off yesterday at the court house. Because of high water many of the towns were unrepresented. F. A. Duxbury of Caledonia was chosen chairman and W. S. Moe of Hokah, secretary. The only fight of the day came upon the question as to whether the delegates selected should be instructed for Jacobson for governor. The Jacobson forces won out for instructions by a vote of 61 to 30. The following named persons were selected as delegates: O. K. Dahle, Caledonia; O. B. Nelson, Spring Groves, O. G. Laugen, Houston; O. T. Newhouse, Spring Grove; C. P. Glasrud, Spring, Grove; J. Q. Briggs, Houston, F. A. Duxbury, Caledonia; William McNelly, Wilmington; Ben. Glasrud, Black Hammer, and O. E. Burtness, Caledonia.

Capt. W. H. Harries left for his home in St. Paul this morning after a few days' visit at this place.

Judge James O'Brien left this morning for Lansing to attend the home coming. Mr. O'Brien practised law at Lansing in an early day.

SCORES DIE IN WRECK IN INDIA

CALCUTTA, June 26.—Upwards of a score of persons were burned to death in the flames followin; a collision between the express and freight trains on the Bombay-Baroday line today. Eight of the passenger cars were smashed and caught fire.

Hundreds rushed to the scene and began fighting the fire but before it could be quenched the luckless victims who were pinched under the wreckage were roasted to death. Until the wreckage has been cleared away it will be impossible to learn the number of dea' At least thirty are badly injured and several Europeans are unaccounted for.

"GREENHORN" WINS NATIONAL HANDICAP

COLUMBUS, Ohio, June 26.—Fred Harlow of Buckeye Lake, Ohio, a member of the Newark Gun club, won the grand American handicap for trap shooters at Arlington grounds today.

His opponent was Wollfolk Henderson, Lexington, Ky. Both men had 92 targets out of 100 yesterday, but it became too dark for the shootoff. In the deciding event of 20 birds for each man Harlow winged 18 and Henderson caught 17. The winner of the handicap had never been heard of before this event. It was the first national shoot he ever attended.

ST. PAUL CONCERN IS BARRED FROM MAILS

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 26.—The Progressive Advertising and Distribution company of St. Paul was today debarred from the mails as a fraudulent business concern. The scheme of the promoter was to advertise splendid positions as agents for his company, paying from $20 to $25 a week. When a "sucker" responded he was advised to forward $1 for a certificate of agency. Then when the dollars were forthcoming, the company sent the dupes names of firms doing advertising with instructions for him to write them for work.

EDWARD OLSON EXPIRES TODAY

Edward Olson, aged 22 years, died this morning at the home of his mother, Mrs. Olson, 1209 South Eleventh street. Deceased has been an invalid for a number of years.

The funeral arrangements will be announced later, Miller Bros. in charge.

CANVASSERS OF GLASSES PINCHED

The police arrested a peddlar shortly after 1 o'clock this afternoon for going around the city from house to house selling spectacles. He was locked up and will await an investigation by the police.

GUN ACCIDENT KILLS TWO.

DULUTH, Minn., June 26.—Alva Evarts was killed and Fred Lynch probably fatally wounded today by the accidental discharge of a gun near here. The men were members of the Cedar Rapids, Iowa, party bound for the north woods. They were caught in a shower and took refuge in a deserted house. A gun was acidentally discharged while the party was crowding together.

SHERMAN MUCH IMPROVED.

CLEVELAND, O., June 26.—Congressman James S. Sherman is so much improved today that his physicians thought he might be able to leave for his home in Utica, N. Y., Monday. His condition is reported as nearly normal. It is probable his physicians will insist on an operation before the presidential campaign opens.

BRYAN INDORSED BY IOWA.

SIOUX CITY, Ia., June 26. — The Iowa democrats renewed their allegiance to W. J. Bryan and the principles for which he stands in convention here yesterday.

This morning several hundred of the delegates took a special train for Denver, where they will deliver the Iowa delegation to Bryan.

The convention ratified the nomination of Fred E. White, the primary candidate for governor.

In selecting a husband, a girl isn't always right because she is so afraid of being left.

S.S.S. DRIVES OUT BLOOD HUMORS

The skin is not simply an outer covering of the body, but through its thousands of pores and glands it performs the great and necessary work of regulating our temperatures, and also assists in disposing of the refuse and waste matters of the system by the constant evaporation that goes on through these little tubes. To perform these duties the tissues and fibres which connect and surround the pores and glands must be continually nourished by pure blood. When from any cause the circulation becomes infected with impurities and humors, it loses its strengthening powers and begins to disease and irritate the delicate tissues, and produces Eczema, Acne, Tetter, or some other itching, disfiguring skin trouble. S. S. S. cures skin diseases of every kind by going down into the circulation and neutralizing and removing the impurities and humors. It changes the quality of the blood from an acrid, fiery fluid to a cooling, health-producing stream, which, instead of irritating and inflaming the skin, cures and nourishes it by its soothing, healthful qualities. Salves, washes, lotions, etc., may be used for any temporary comfort or cleanliness they afford, but skin diseases cannot be cured until S. S. S. has purified the blood. Book on Skin Diseases and any medical advice sent free.

CLAIM TELEPHONE SERVICE INADEQUATE

SO SAYS HUDNALL BEFORE THE STATE R. R. COMMISSION

THE COMMISSION MAY ACT

Depends on Whether Fact that Company Operates Lines in Minnesota is Immaterial

MADISON, Wis., June 26.—(Special.)—Senator George B. Hudnali in his argument concluded before the state railroad commission this morning declared that the telephone service furnished by the Great Northern and Eastern Wisconsin Railway companies is inadequate and that the service furnished the Douglas County Telephone company's subscribers is equally bad. He declared that the service furnished was also discriminatory.

In the course of his hearing Senator Hudnall sprang a surprise by contending that if the Douglas County Telephone company held an exclusive contract with the railway companies it was void, as having been granted to the Northwestern, of which the Douglas company is a subsidiary concern, and not to the company proper.

May Be in Restraint of Trade.

"If such a contract really exists," declared Senator Hudnall, "but I don't believe it does, then the contract here in question is not only contrary to public policy and the statutes of the state of Wisconsin, but is also contrary to the anti-trust act of congress, passed in 1898. This act makes it a misdemeanor to combine or conspire with any other person or persons to monopolize any particular trade or commerce."

Senator Hudnall contended because the company operated lines into the state of Minnesota that this did not take it from the jurisdiction of the commission and he cited many authorities to sustain his contention.

"We anticipate that the defendants will not seriously claim that they furnished an adequate telephone service at Superior," declared Mr. Hudnall," or that they do not discriminate against the People's Telephone company and its subscribers, but will contend that having entered into the contract, that this is binding. The plaintiff confidently believes that such contract is void as against public policy and in restraint of trade, both at common law and under the statute. If the commission believes that the foregoing statement is borne out by the law and the fact, then the plaintiff has clearly shown itself entitled at the hands of this commission to an order compelling the defendant companies to install, or permit to be installed, the telephones of the People's Telephone company, in all of their offices, buildings and grounds in the city of Superior, where there was at the time of the commencement of this action, or is now, any telephone of the Douglas County Telephone company."

C. H. Crowhardt appeared for the Great Northern and Judge Steel is also here interested in the litigation.

ASHEVILLE GETS T. P. A. CONVENTION

TRAVELERS' ORDER HEADED BY GRAY OF LOUISVILLE

TODAY MARKS END OF MEET

Milwaukee Man, Schoenecker, Is a National Director—Will Co-operate with Prosperity Congress

MILWAUKEE, Wis., June 26.—Next meeting place—Ashville, N. C.

National president—Henry O. Gray, Loisville, Ky.

Vice presidents—Allen L. Bird, Columbus, S. C.; C. D. Frasier, Portland, Ore.; F. W. King, Jacksonville, Fla.; Fred W. Hawkins, Fremont, Neb.; C. A. Lee, Ashville, N. C.

National board of directors—William Fisher, St. Louis; F. E. Conrad, St. Louis; Alexander Lawrence, Jr., Philadelphia; W. O. Hudson, New Orleans V. J. Schoenecker, Milwaukee.

Short term director, to fill vacancy caused by resignation of President-Elect Gray—Carey J. King, Georgia.

National chairman—Railway committee, Frank W. Crandall, Missouri; legislation, John H. Harwood, Virginia; press, Fred McIntyre, Pennsylvania; employment, L. W. Cowan, Iowa; good roads, Louis Oakes, Indiana.

National chaplain—The Rev. Homer T. Wilson, San Antonio, Tex.

With a mighty sigh of relief and with "Wilson's, that's all," the T. P. A. ended its session for the day at 4 o'clock yesterday, having been in session continuously from an early morning hour, and with something doing every minute.

During the session strong resolutions were adopted and included was a poetic allusion to the queen city by the lake.

Among the things approved was the conduct of the retiring president, wherein was included a reference to the flourishing condition of the organization.

Hotel and Railroad Service.

The efforts of the state chairman were also approved in attempting to effect legislation in regard to better hotel and railroad accommodations and for greater safety. They would have watchmen for every hotel of over two stories, and retire wooden coaches as fast as possible. They wished to go on record, however, as demanding only equal justice in regard to the railroads, which they recognize as entitled to adequate compensation. They believed there should be some concessions to large users of transportation.

One Cent Postage Indorsed.

They favored postal savings banks and 1 cent postage, where the latter would not create a deficit in the management of the department.

They opposed parcels post measures which were before the sixtieth congress.

They approved the efforts to secure good roads and improved waterways. They wished the interstate commerce committee to investigate freight rates and their reasonableness before they were allowed to become effective.

Today the Lake Trip.

Today at 9 the concluding session will be held to complete any unfinished business, and at 2 the party is expected to embark on the Christopher Columbus for a four hours' ride up and down the lake. Those who desire may remain aboard the boat and go to Chicago Saturday.

The Ladies Have a Part.

Forty-four big touring cars furnished by Col. Gustav Pabst carried the ladies who are in attendance at the convention to West Allis, thence to Whitefish Bay, where lunch was served. Each lady carried a banner and the procession was an imposing one.

In the evening cars were sent out by the electric company to convey the ladies back to Wonderland, where their husbands awaited them.

A card party was given the ladies at the Calumet club rooms Wednesday afternoon.

JOHN C. SPOONER HONORED AT YALE

NEW HAVEN, Conn., June 26.—Yale's commencement exercises took place in Woolsey hall. Degrees were conferred upon 837 undergraduates. Among honorary degrees awarded were:

Doctor of Laws—John Pierpont Morgan, a direct descendant of the Rev. James Pierpont, a prominent founder of Yale. (The degree is awarded with especial reference to Mr. Morgan's service to the nation in quieting the panic last fall); John Colt Spooner, former United States senator Samuel James Elder, Yale '73, Boston; George Waschington Kirchwey, Yale '79 and dean of Columbia law school.

A big bunch of fire-works tomorrow at Doerflinger's—a special "Dollar Day" bargain.

DAVIDSON ORDERS FLAGS LOWERED

MADISON, Wis., June 26.—Gov. Davidson has issued a proclamation taking official notice of the death of former President Grover Cleveland. The document sets forth briefly the cardinal traits of the deceased statesman and orders that the statehouse flag be placed at half mast until after the funeral.

MODERN WRINGING

means the saving of time, labor and money. By using a Horse-Shoe Brand Wringer you can wring the clothes dry in half the time and with less labor, and as they do not break buttons nor tear the clothes they soon pay for their original cost. We warrant every Wringer from 1 to 5 years as is shown on the Horse-Shoe Tag attached to each.

We carry a complete assortment of Wood Frame, Iron Frame and Bench Wringers with wood bearings and ball bearings; our prices will interest you.

WISCONSIN MAN INHERITS $333,000

MINEOLA, N. Y., June 26.—Robert S. Ingraham of Sheboygan Falls, Wis., is named as one of three heirs to the $1,000,000 estate left by his father, William M. Ingraham, Sr., a well known member of the New York bar with offices in Brooklyn, who died at Hyde Paark, L. I., June 7. The will is dated Jan. 16, 1895, and was offered for probate to the surrogate of Nassau county.

The other children of the decedent, Frances T., a daughter, and George S., a son, both of Hyde Park, with Henry C. M. Ingraham, a brother of the decedent, are named as executrix and executors with power. The three children aare made residuary legatees of the estate, to share equally in it absolutely.

ESTATE MAY BE REDUCED $30,000

WASHBURN, Wis., June 26.—The etate of Col. Isaac H. Wing of Bayfield, which is being probated in this county, will be reduced nearly $30,000 if two claims which have been presented to the county court are allowed. One claim is for $10,000 and was presented by J. A. Wood of Appleton, treasurer of the Lawrence university. Prior to his death Mr. Wing promised the amount to the institution under the condition that they were to raise a certain sum in a given time. The other claim is that of B. N. Simmons of Hartford, Conn., for $20,000. The estate amounts to over $700,000.

STATE NEWS IN BRIEF

PLYMOUTH.—On Sunday St. John's Lutheran congregation will celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of the laying of the cornerstone of its church.

PLYMOUTH.—Henry Krumrey, a former assemblyman, has announced his candidacy for the state senate on the republican ticket.

WATERTOWN.—Despondent because of ill health, Ernest Foss, a farmer of Farmington, attempted to commit suicide by cutting the arteries in his wrist with a case knife. A neighbor calling to ascertain the condition of his health found Foss bleeding from the ugly wounds. He will recover.

WAUKESHA.—W. H. Pierce of the town of Ottawa, bitten by a dog, has been taken to the Pasteur institute at Chicago for treatment. An examination of the dog's head at Madison showed that the animal had rabies.

APPLETON.—Because the members of the Winston Stock company received only 70 cents apiece for their work, the company disbanded.

BELOIT.—The new Catholic church parish will be known as St. Jude. Father Hans, now assistant priest of St. Thomas church, will be the rector.

ELKHORN.—The fortieth annual meeting of the Walworth County Old Settlers' society will be held on Saturday. Congressman Cooper will make the principal address.

EAU CLAIRE.—During a circus parade robbers entered the residence of Bert Smith and H. F. Miller.

GRAND RAPIDS.—Sheriff Welch arrested Albert Siegbert for robbery at Neenah. Siegbert with an accomplice was arrested at the time, but he managed to escape. The accomplice pleaded guilty and is now serving a two years' term in the penitentiary. Siegbert had been keeping company with one Lottie Holmes, a colored fortune teller of the city of Appletin, who was spending her vacation at Neenah.

GREEN BAY.—In recognition of the twentieth anniversary of his priesthood, the Rev. M. J. O'Brien of St. Patrick's church, was presented with a surplice and the pupils of the parochial school gave a literary and musical program.

Saturday is the LAST of the sensational "Dollar Days" at Doerflinger's.

LA CROSSE MAN WILL HEAD UNIVERSALISTS

OSHKOSH, Wis., June 26.—At the state convention of Universalists the following officers were re-elected:

WINONA GROCERS COME.—There is still a little over a month left before the grocers' annual excursion will take place but the arrangements are being made as rapidly as possible and last evening there was a meeting of the transportation committee and the officers of the City Grocers' association in Workman hall, at which the former reported having secured the steamer J. S. for the date August 4, and that arrangements had been completed, and the contract signed. Permission nas also been secured from the city of La Crosse to use Pettibone park and both the City and the La Crosse Grocers' association had extended all of the privileges and favors which were given last year and expressed a willingness to give more if any were needed. This is the only committee which has been appointed so far and Mr Kingsbury was instructed by vote to appoint the rest of the committees, which he expects to do in about a week.—Winona Independent.

CORN CROP LIKELY TO BE SMALL ONE

A La Crosse man who has been traveling in Iowa, Minnesota and Wisconsin has seen the condition of crops think corn will not be a heavy yield this season. He says:

"The rainfall has been so heavy and continued that not only are all of the streams out of their banks, but the upland is too wet for the corn. Many fields were late in planting because of the wet weather and these of course look badly. Then, too, many of the most fertile fields of the river bottoms are under water. Those of course will be a total loss.

"I do not mean to predict that we will have a corn failure. On the other hand, I believe we will have a fairly good crop. But we must have sunshine, warm weather and not quite so much rain."

BODEGA OWNERS BUY A SALOON

Messrs. J. Fries and O. Dumpke, proprietors of the Bodega saloon on Pearl street, have closed a deal with Mr. A. E. BABY CAMEL IN THE GENTRY SHOW

"Oklahoma," the baby camel—only one on exhibition—born in Norman, Oklahoma, and named after the grand old territory, is a great feature with Gentry Bros.' Famous Shows, now united.

"Oklahoma" is a captivating little animal and occupies the proud position of "pet of the show," the children's ideal and the marvel of the grown-ups.

During the shows' engagement at Dallas, Texas, a young man, possessing a trifle more bragadocio character than his companions, deliberately reached over the ropes and scratched a match on the trunk of Nero, the Clown elephant. Standing immediately back of the young man was the chief of police, who at once took the gentleman into custody, and when he appeared before a magistrate declared "it was an accident." The chief of police said, and rightly so, that the act might have resulted fatally. If the elephant had become infuriated the animal would have attacked either the young man himself or some of the other bystanders. The defendant should not have jeopardized the lives of the many spectators, and the chief declared it was clearly a case of disorderly conduct.

Nero, the elephant, did not seem to mind the occurence at the time, but seemingly the more he thought of it the madder he became, and after a lapse of an hour he became, came infuriated and without a second's warning reached out with his trunk and picked up poor little innocent "Oklahoma," who was next to him, lifted him bodily into the air, trumpeting loudly, and the cries and wails of Oklahoma were pitiful. Seconds seemed hours to the horrified bystanders who saw the pet of the show world poised in the air held by aan infurited elephant, when the keeper yelled: 'Easy, Nero—easy. Now be careful. Let Oklahoma down easy—very easy—a little more. Good Nero; that's the way—a little more," and, to the amazement of all, Nero lowered his trunk and Oklahoma to the ground as easy and as careful as a mother would fondle a babe. A mighty sigh of relief arose from the bystanders when Oklahoma reached the ground unscathed and uninjured from his terrible experience and scampered away friskily, much to the delight of everybody, and especially to the Gentry Bros., who value the baby camel at $10,000.00.

Nero settled down in temperament and was soon his old self again. Animal tamers and trainers tell us that you can do almost anything with a brute if you can get their absolute confidence and always treat them kindly. This has always been the law with Gentry Bros., and their numerous ponies, dogs, elephants, etc., are trained with utmost kindness and care, never using a harsh word or cruel blow. It is well known that an oath or cross word will quicken the pulse of a dumb brute ten to fifteen beats a minute. In fact, during training a dumb animal feels the trainer's thought instantly. If he is angry, even if he does not say a word or strike him, the animal is conscious of it and is visibly affected.

The Gentry Bros.' Famous Shows, now united, will give two exhibitions in La Crosse tomorrow and extend a hearty welcome to all to examine their stock of marvelous trained animals at any time. The free riding school for the children immediately after each matinee has proclaimed these popular managers the "Kings of Entertainers" by the children, who romp with the dogs, ride the camels, elephants and ponies to their heart's delight, and the utmost safety being assured, as attendants of the shows personally await upon the little ones.

STORES WILL BE CLOSED THE FOURTH

All the stores of the city will be closed all day July 4th, according to a decision reached by the merchant's association. As a consequence buyers are urged to do their shopping early next week. The stores will all be open until 9 o'clock next Friday night, which will give the people an opportunity to lay in their Saturday and Sunday supplies.

CO. M GOES TO VIROQUA JULY 4TH

That Co. M. will go to Viroqua to participate in the celebration there July Fourth has been assured. By consent of the governor and Adjutant General Boardman, Captain Rawlinson will take his command there on that date.

ONLY 6 DAYS MORE

WE CLOSE OUR DOORS FOR GOOD FRIDAY NIGHT, JULY 3rd.

Only six days more for us to dispose of the remaining stock in the store, and in order to effect a complete and speedy riddance of every dollars worth of goods we have again gone through the stock, and this time put the final mark down, in doing so actual cost or real value was in no way considered, simply a price put on the goods that will sell them and sell them quickly.

COME TOMORROW, SATURDAY, JUNE 27th

and avail yourself to the fullest extent of this great opportunity, come and prepare yourself for the glorious Fourth and the balance of the season at a saving of half and more, you won't question a price when you see the goods. SHOWER IS GIVEN FOR JUNE BRIDE

The Misses Ida Lennon and Josephine McCann entertained a large number of friends last evening at the former's home, 614 South Fourth street in honor of Miss Bertha Martin who is soon to become a June bride. The guests were the employes of the E. R. Barron company and Miss Bennet, Miss Felber and Mrs. Frank Sutherland of New York.

The rooms were tastily decorated with wild flowers and June roses and the dining room was beautifully adorned with red hearts and flowers. The centerpiece was a large red heart shaped box containing a set of silver knives and forks, which was presented to the bride-to-be.

Miss Antoinette Lennon and Miss Hazel Strauss entertained the guests with several vocal and instrumental selections during the evening.

Noise and Vibration

Without a doubt, the one remaining unpleasant feature of a long distance trip in an auto is the noise and vibration of the explosion motor even when the power plant contains a four or six cylinder motor. When running upon the smooth well kept streets of a City like La Crosse it is possible to imitate to a great degree the smoothness of a WHITE Steamer but who has ever made a long country trip over rough hilly roads in a WHITE and then noted the difference when making a smilar trip in the best and most expensive gasoline car?

It is the undivided opinion of tourists generally, whether users of the explosion motor system or of the WHITE system of power generation, that for all around efficiency there is nothing made in the motor car world that is the equal of a WHITE Steamer.

Should you be a "doubting Thomas" let us at least tell you a few facts about the WHITE Steamer before you believe the fiction which you are often asked to accept as fact.

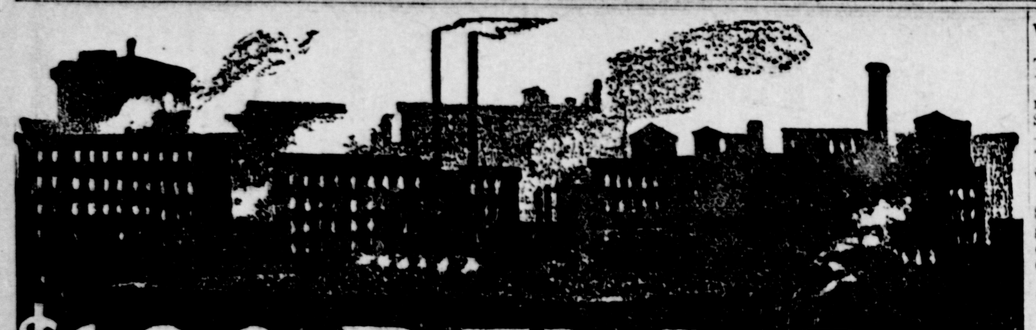

Did you ever drive a White Steamer? If not why not?

FAVORITES COLLAPSE AND CRIMSON WINS

YALE LOSES GREAT RACE BY EXHAUSTION OF CREW

STROKE LIMP AT HIS POST

Thousands View Great College Event, Including Candidate William H. Taft and Party

NEW LONDON, Conn., June 26.—Rowed to a complete stop in the first two miles of a heart-breaking struggle, with their stroke fallen forward helpless on his oar and two other men floundering on the verge of collapse, Yale's varsity crew went down to utter defeat at the hands of Harvard last evening on the Thames and, while thousands cheered them deliriously from yachts, trains and shores, the crimson crew swept across the four-mile finish line a quarter of a mile in the lead to the time of 24 minutes and 10 seconds.

Three minutes and a half later the exhausted Yale eight, another stroke in the seat of the collapsed Griswold, staggered weakly but pluckily across the line. Tears were streaming down the face of every man in the boat, and as they passed the last flag they dropped their oars and sobbed aloud.

Thus the Harvard crew which had been pitted to lose won the great race. Also she won the day for her first year crew took the freshman contest by two and one-half clean lengths. And the sad sons of Eli are homeward bound with such small scrap of consolation as a rather hollow victory in the despised varsity four-oar race can give.

A Brilliant Gathering.

It was a very brilliant gathering of the land's elect that saw Harvard win and Yale fall in one of the most pathetic struggles of college regatta history. William H. Taft sat on an observation train and watched the dragging of his college colors in the water. Aboard the Mayflower, Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt cheered the victorious scions of her husband's alma mater. So did the younger Roosevelt, while Assistant Secretary of State Bacon and Mr. Newberry of the navy added more of the luster of national officialdom to the vivid scene.

It was semi-twilight with the sun just dipping for the night when the two varsity crews paddled down through the lane of fifty yachts, revenue cutters, torpedo boats and innumerable launches and ranged in position at the little red and blue stake boats for the start of the gruelling dash four miles upstream.

Yale Favorite, 10 to 7.

Above them on the drawbridge stood one of the two observation trains filled with 2,500 shouting and singing men and women, nicely adjusted so that Secretary Taft's car could be exactly overhead at the pistol's crack. It was noticeable that even on Mr. Taft's train the Harvard yell predominated. The presidential nominee smiled broadly at the opposition clamor. He had been told that Yale could not lose. He knew that the odds were 10 to 7 in her favor. He seemed quite as confident of his alma mater's victory as he may be of his own this fall.

But confidence seemed the chief asset in Yale's big crowd of coherts. For Harvard's yell loosened and they were loosened with a vim as Referee William Meikleham cried out, "Are you ready?" and fired the starting gun.

Off on a False Start

It was a false start. Yale catching the water first, shot out ahead at the fast stroke of forty-two. She kept it up but fifteen seconds. Then Capt. Ide broke a shoe lace, lost his clutch on the slide, and his oar as well, tried to get the stride and failed and finally quit rowing altogether just as Harvard spurted into a big lead.

Because such an accident is not fatal under the rules if it happens within half a minute of the start both crews were brought back for a fresh one.

Once more lining up they were sent away finally at 6:19 p. m. Again Yale hit the initial stroke ahead. She was a half length ahead before a hundred feet had been rowed. A moment later her lead was almost sixty feet.

Then Harvard struck her stride. Richardson, her stroke, called for a spurt. It came. Striking it up to forty the Crimson crew drew up alongside the Eli shell and, with both crews rowing so evenly that the backs of the rival oarsmen rose and swept backward in perfect unison, the battle began then and there in the first mile of the race.

Men and Women Go Wild

The crew that had beaten Cornell showed the reason of its victory in the next ten minutes. So slowly that her gain could hardly have been seen, yet so surely that they had increased a half length ahead at the end of the first mile, Harvard began her heart-breaking pull. The crowds went frantic. On the observation trains men and women threw their hats away, flung banners to the ground and yelled until they were throat clogged.

Into the second mile the two eights swept abreast. Yale had raised her stroke to 36, but even though the crimson dropped to 34 the New Haven crew could not regain the lead. Their oars lacked power. Their men lacked condition. The crew that Coach Kennedy thought the strongest in his whole career at Yale had already begun to fail in strength.

At two miles Harvard was almost a length in the lead. Yale still spurting desperately had gone to the end of her strength. Griswold, the stroke, was splashing badly. When he "caught a crab" as the shell reached the naval station he nearly fell from the boat.

GENTLEMEN FOURS ARE TO ROW TODAY

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., June 26.—The managers of all the college crews except Syracuse decided yesterday afternoon to have a race on Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock between the "gentlemen fours" of the navies of Pennsylvania, Wisconsin, Cornell and Columbia. Coach Ward of the Pennsylvania crews wil probably put two fours in the race. The course will be one and one half miles long. This agreement was arrived at in order that the "subs" might have a chance to race. The make-up of the crews will not be known until today.

All of the crews were out for their daily practice. The work in the morning was light, because of the intense heat, this being the hottest day the oarsmen have yet had. Late in the afternoon all the crews again went on the water and had long rows in the rain. A heavy thunder shower swept over the course during the practice, but no damage was done.

Coach Courtney had his crews out but once today, and had them row four miles below the course. The Columbia crews came down the river and on their return Coach Rice put them through a series of starts and spurts.

Both the Pennsylvania and Wisconsin crews were out both morning and afternoon and took long rows. They went up the river, Coach Ten Eyck putting his men on the water as soon as Coach Ward returned. All of the Wisconsin oarsmen are in the best of condition and ready for the race. Coach Ten Eyck will not give them any more hard work, with the exception of a trial, which he might give them tomorrow. From that time on the men will be given practice at easy stages, paying more attention to their inboard work and practicing starts and spurts.

NEW RULE FOR BALL PLAYERS

CINCINNATI, June 26.—In rejecting the claim of Player Jerry F. Donovan for salary alleged to be due him from the Philadelphia National league club the national baseball commission made a new rule in cases where players make claim for salary provided for in their major league contracts when they are released to minor league clubs.

The new rule provides that no major league club has a right to release a player at any time unless they give him a ten days' notice of such release. If this notice is given ten days before the season commences the major league clubs having title to the player need not pay him any salary. If the ten days' notice covers any part of the playing season then the major league club releasing the player unconditionally must pay him for the number of days such notice covers of the playing season, and if the player is released by a major league club to a minor league club by sale or otherwise the major league club will in such case be required to pay the player the difference in salary between ten days' pay under his major league contract and the amount the player could have earned during the time had he reported promptly to the club securing his services.

GRIFFITH QUITS NEW YORK TEAM

PHILADELPHIA, June 26.—As a result of the long continued slump of the New York Americans Manager Clark Griffith tendered his resignation to President Frank Farrell, who came over here for a consultation with Griffith. The resignation went in effect after Wednesday's game with the Athletics. It will be accepted by Farrell, who probably wil put Norman Elberfeld in charge of the team, temporarily at least.

Griffith has been manager of the yankees ever since the club was established in New York in 1903. He was secured from the Chicago white sox, which he managed for two years when the American League was in its infancy. The yankees started out like winners this season, but since leaving New York three weeks ago the team has won only four out of eighteen games played, and seems hopelessly anchored in the second division.

PUTS A BAN ON RACE SEVICE

NEW YORK, June 26.—Following the calling off of the Brighton Beach stakes, the dates of which followed the present Sheepshead Bay meeting, another effort was made to gain public approval by ordering the wires removed from the Coney Island track. Newspaper men were informed that this was done in an attempt to shut down the poolrooms, and they were asked to send their reports to their offices by telephone.

Censorship over these messages is also planned.

As a result electricians were kept busy installing 'phones for the various papers and tiring out the wires which ran to the telegraph offices. Leading dailies decided to put in their own telephones, so that uninterrupted service could be obtained.

DAILY MARKETS

Foreign Markets

Board of Trade Closes

CHICAGO, June 26.—As a mark of respect to the memory of Cleveland the board of trade closed at noon today.

New York Stocks

NEW YORK, June 26.—There was a continued firmness in the market during the greater part of the first hour and prices in nearly everything traded in made fractional advances. The Union Pacific moved up 3-8 and about the same gain was made in many of the other stocks. The most important feature in the market was the quiet demand from many sources at about ruling quotations. After the fractional advances were made prices receded slightly and in some cases losing moderate early gains. London trading was not large enough to be worth noting. Government bonds remained unchanged and others steady.

Chicago Livestock.

CHICAGO, June 26.—Cattle, 2,000, steady; beeves, $5.20 to $8.40; stockers, $2.50 to $5.40.

Hogs—22,000; 5 to 10c lower; light 5.60 to $6.15; heavy, $5.95 to $6.25; pigs, $4.50 to $5.45.

Chicago—Modern Miller is bearish.

Estimated World's Shipments.

Wheat—exclusive of North America—about 4,000,000 bushels, of which Europe will take about 3,600,000 bushels.

TODAY'S GRAIN GOSSIP

MARKET GOSSIP

The weather throughout Kansas and Nebraska and neighboring states has been perfect and these states expect to be shipping soon. The first carload of new wheat arrived in Kansas City this morning graded No. 2 red and more expected soon. The trade in wheat is dull with but little buying. Northwest wheat crop is making fine headway and the wheat in South Dakota will be headed by July 4th. The Chicago Inter-Ocean says, "Wheat traders in explaining the action of the market said that a good many local bulls who started in with the intention of running the bear lead in, had sold out openly or through downs on the closing break; some simply reduced their lines while others had gone out entirely. Most of the gossip favored lower prices. Corn traders who were bearish said that they noticed small holders were liquidating and there was an absence of new buying power on the market.'

The seaboard and southwestern export houses agree that there is no good in the cables from abroad.

St. Louis—Modern Miller: Favorable weather for harvesting has enabled farmers to push this work and cutting of wheat is nearing northern sections of the winter wheat belt; threshing becoming general in central section and returns indicate irregular yield but while low yields of light weight wheat are numerous, good yields are plentiful, in some sections the returns are beyond expectations. The prospects are for a considerable larger winter wheat crop than last year.

Clearances: Wheat, 139,000 bu.; flour, 13,000 bbls.; corn, 33,000 bu.; oats, 6,000 bu.; wheat and flour equal 195,000 bu.

Primaries—Wheat today, 292,000, 105,000; last week, 216,000, 239,000; last year, 468,000, 317,000. Corn today 488,000, 440,000; last week, 510,000, 36,000; last year, 624,000, 104,000. Oats today, 438,000, 424,000; last year, 448,000, 263,000.

WOODMEN OF WORLD TO DANCE

The Modern Woodmen of the World at a meeting last evening appointed a committee composed of W. S. Peck, George Albrecht and C. Johnson to make preparations for the grand ball to be given by the lodge in connection with the celebration of the Fourth of July.

They will give their dance at their hall in the Linker building on that evening and an orchestra has been engaged to furnish the music.

IS GIVEN 10 DAYS WORK ON A FARM

RACINE, Wis., June 26.—James Kirby will work ten days on the farm of Nicholas Reichert to pay for the damage he caused to one of Mr. Reichert's buggies when he took the rig out for a drive. An action had been brought against him, but the court will enter a dismissal if Kirby has complied with the order. He had been charged with driving the horse till it became exhausted while intoxicated.

LOCAL MARKETS

The local market remains practically stationary with the exception of a few changes in the Langdon & Boyd quotations. Old chickens have dropped one cent in price, dairy butter two cents but eggs took a turn for higher. Wild hay has dropped $1 per ton. Blueberries have put in an appearance on the market with a price of 18c per quart.

ANNA AND HELIE CAN'T WED NOW

LONDON, June 26.—Archbishop of Canterbury has refused to grant a special license for the marriage of Anna Gould and Prince Helie de Sagan, and it looks as though the couple will have to await the expiration of their three weeks' residence in England before the ceremony can be performed. The couple unavallingly sought aid from both the French and American embassies. Any special license issued in England requires publicity and as the couple is seeking a quiet marriage, they are resigned to wait until the ordinary license can be issued.

TWO KILLED IN STORM AT WINDOM

WINDOM, Minn., June 26.—A cyclone formed about three miles northwest of Windom and going east struck the large barn of Mr. Schottles, which it destroyed completely, including some stock. Next it struck Paul Hocke's place, where it did considerable damage. From there it struck northeast into Carson township, where it destroyed completely the buildings on seven farms, killing one boy and carrying old man Hiebe some distance and dropping him into a slough, injuring him some but not fatally. At P. C. Klassen's place Mrs. Klassen was in the basement with her baby in her arms. The baby was killed and she was uninjured. One of the Klassen boys had an arm and leg broken. Jacob Epp was badly injured internally.

STABS SON AND DAUGHTER.

RED OAK, Ia., June 26—Mrs. Milo Wilcox, who lives northeast of Red Oak, went violently insane Sunday night. Securing a butcher knife she stabbed her 6-year-old son, attacked her 11-year-old daughter, wounding her severely, and then turned the knife upon herself, inflicting dangerous cuts. The boy died and the daughter and mother are still unconscious.

INDICTED FOR BANK RAID.

WARREN, Minn., June 26. — The alleged Stephen bank robbers were indicted. The trial of these men is set for Tuesday, July 7. The state seems quite confident of conviction, and evidently has something up its sleeve which is not publicly known. It is understood that a firm of Cincinnati attorneys will appear for the defense.

FULLY NOURISHED
Grape-Nuts a Perfectly Balanced Food.

No chemist's analysis of Grape-Nuts can begin to show the real value of the food—the practical value as shown by personal experience.

It is a food that is perfectly balanced, supplies the needed elements of brain and nerves in all stages of life from the infant, through the strenuous times of active middle life, and is a comfort and support in old age.

"For two years I have used Grape-Nuts with milk and a little cream, for breakfast. I am comfortably hungry for my dinner at noon.

"I use little meat, plenty of vegetables and fruit, in season, for the noon meal, and if tired at tea time, take Grape-Nuts alone and feel perfectly nourished.

"Nerve and brain power, and memory are much improved since using Grape-Nuts. I am over sixty and weigh 155 lbs. My son and husband seeing how I had improved, are now using Grape-Nuts.

"My son, who is a traveling man, eats nothing for breakfast but Grape-Nuts and a glass of milk. An aunt, over 70, seems fully nourished on Grape-Nuts and cream." "There's a Reason."

LAWYERS TO MEET IN MILWAUKEE

MILWAUKEE, June 26.—The Wisconsin State Bar association will meet in Milwaukee on June 30. Mayor David S. Rose will deliver the address of welcome in the Hotel Pfister on the evening of that day. The annual address by President Burr W. Jones and the reports of committees will follow.

On Wednesday morning, July 1, Judge Chester A. Fowler of Portage will deliver an address on the life of Chief Justice Luther S. Dixon. Further reports, the business meeting, and the annual election of officers will follow.

Dean Gregory to Speak.

In the afternoon at 2 o'clock, Charles N. Gregory, dean of the law school of Iowa university, will deliver an address on the life of the late Chief Justice Roger B. Taney. He will be followed by an address on "Standards for Rate Regulation by Commission," by Edwin S. Mack. A general discussion will follow.

On Wednesday evening a joint banquet, participated in by the State Bar association and the Milwaukee Bar association, will be held in the Hotel Pfister. Joseph G. Donnelly will be toastmaster.

Toasts by Justice Barnes.

Upon this occasion General Arthur MacArthur will speak on "Courts and Court Martial;" Justice John Barnes of the supreme court on "From Bench to Bar;" Judge W. J. Turner on "How It Feels to Be a Judge;" Judge Charles B. Rogers of Jefferson county on "The Will and the Way;" Thomas M. Kearney of Racine on "The Brotherhood of the Bar." General MacArthur is further expected to respond to one or more toasts.

THINK ROBBERS ARE YOUTHS.

SIOUX FALLS, S. D., June 26. — The business men and other residents of Eureka, McPherson county, are greatly annoyed by the depredations of what appears to be a regularly organized band of burglars. The band appears to be organized on dime novel lines and for this reason it is believed that youths of the vicinity are striving to emulate the deeds of the heroes of penny dreadfuls. In one night recently three business houses of Eureka were robbed. At one place the robbers secured $7 in cash; at another they broke open the cash register and secured possession of its contents, amounting to $14. At the third place they secured only 14 cents for their pains.

Struggle of Twenty Years' Duration Culminates in Victory for New Capitol

PIERRE, June 26.—The laying of the cornerstone of the new state capitol was under Masonic ceremony for such occasions. The Masonic orders and state officials marched to the capitol, where the stone was laid. This was followed by a short address by Governor Crawford, and the address of the day by Gen. W. H. H. Beadle of Madison.

The laying of the corner stone of the capitol in this city is the culmination of the hopes and dreams of the earliest pioneers of this city, who have held to the belief that they would eventually see the capitol of Dakota here, even in the darkest hours of the history of the city.

Capital removal has been a cause of contention in Dakota since the days of the legislative session of 1833 at Yankton, when the first bill was introduced to remove the seat of territorial government from Yankton to Huron. This bill begun to make headway, when other ambitious towns stepped in and saw that it was killed. Then followed the capital commission, composed of six members from the southern half of the territory and three from the northern half, who, after looking over the different towns which desired to be made the seat of government, selected Bismarck. The bill creating the commission fixed a bid of not less than $100,000 in cash as what would be required from the successful town, and among the aspirants at that time were towns now no longer in existence. The list was Aberdeen, Bismarck, Huron, Canton, Mitchell, Pierre, Ordway, Odessa, Redfield and Steele. All of these made offers, and entertained the commission grandly in their swing around the circle, but Bismarck was the winner, with three northerns to six southerns on the list.

Tht next capital move was on the part of Pierre to get a removal bill to change the location, and in the session of the territorial legislature off 1887 such a bill was passed but was vetoed by Gilbert Pierce, then territorial governor. The move to carry it passed the house over his veto, but failed by one vote in the senate, and Bismarck was troubled no more.

The "Dollar Days" at Doerflinger's were arranged for weeks ago, and the house buyers have scoured the markets for the biggest bargains of all the year. How well they have succeeded hundreds who have shared in the bargains of the past two days can testify. Saturday will be the last of the matchless Dollar bargains, and the GREATEST.

An Extra Offering To House-keep-

TO AMEND CONSITUTION.

PIERRE, S. D., June 26.—Two constitutional amendments will be presented to the voters of the state at the fall election and the secretary of state is preparing copy of the same for publication in the papers of the state. One is to increase the salary of the attorney general from $1,000 to $1,800 a year, placing him on the same basis as other state officers. This was presented four years ago and voted down, and is to have another trial.

The other is to radically change the revenue laws of the state. It attempts to remove the strict constitutional limitation on state tax levies and throws the levies open to any amount which the state assessment board "may deem necessary for state purposes." It also cuts from the present constitution some of its provisions in regard to taxation of banking property and makes several other radical changes.

The secretary of state in a few days will send out the amendments for publication.

"U" TO HAVE STADIUM.

IOWA CITY, Ia., June 26.—The University of Iowa board in control of athletics announced its intention to provide the patrons of athletics a stadium as soon as it could afford to do so. In the first place, a cement and steel grand stand will be erected to supplant the present structure, an old one, seating only 1,100. The board, as an earnest of its intention, began the construction of the first section of the new stand. When completed the cement grand stand will seat several thousand people and will cost more than $14,000. This is the first year that the board could reasonably contemplate any such expenditure, as it has been debt-ridden for years.

The indebtedness, however, has been wiped out and the board has a bank balance of $2,800, according to the figures of Col. Walter M. Davis, in his report to the alumni association.

WHITNEY GETS THE LIMIT.

WARREN, Minn., June 26.—District court opened here with Judge A. Grindeland presiding. E. F. Whitney, a prominent druggist of this city, arrested a few weeks ago upon the charge brought on complaint of girls under 14 years, was indicted, pleaded guilty and was sentenced to seven years at Stillwater. W. F. Powell headed a delegation of citizens asking that justice be tempered with mercy, but in spite of all influence Judge Gindeland said that he was acting as a public officer and not in an individual capacity, and consequently imposed the maximum penalty.

NORTHWEST IN BRIEF

BEMIDJI, Minn.—At a meeting of the council a resolution was passed authorizing the issuance of $50,000 worth of bonds to purchase an additional site and also hose and other material for the use of the fire department. The special election is to be held Tuesday, Aug. 11.

SIOUX FALLS, S. D.—Judge L. T. Boucher has just convened a term of state circuit court for Campbell county at Mound City, that county. There are quite a number of cases to be disposed of and it is believed the remainder of the week will be taken up with disposing of them.

SIOUX FALLS, S. D.—The farmers in the vicinity of Utica, Yankton county, have completed the work of organizing a farmer's elevator company for the purpose of constructing and operating an elevator at Utica.

WARREN, Minn.—Crops in this vicinity are the best in years. Plenty of rain, but not too much, has fallen, and this county is promised the banner crop of its history this fall.

WATERTOWN, S. D.—The Codington county teachers' institute opened in this city Tuesday with a full corps of instructors and an unusually large attendance. The summer school will continue for ten days.

WATERTOWN, S. D.—Baptists of the Northeastern Association of South Dakota closed their fifteenth annual convention in this city. A large delegation attended and there were prominent speakers from this and adjoining staates. By vote of the association it incorporated with the Central Baptist association. The two have bought an auditorium tent and next year will hold the annual gathering at Lake Kampeska, lasting for a week. It is expected that this will be the nucleus for a South Dakota Baptist assembly.
